RIOTING IN WEIMAR BEGUN BY GERMANS

Spartacans Beaten in Attempt to Dominate Assembly Which Will Vote on Treaty

Geneva, June 18.—Italians, while awaiting the decision of the council of four on the Adriatic controversy, have practically taken possession of Fiume, said a Lugano dispatch today. The first case called before a tribunal in Fiume was appealed to Rome. The Fiume national council is organizing a national army.

Copenhagen, June 18.—Rioting has broken out at Weimar, seat of the German government, where the National Assembly met to give Germany's final answer on the peace treaty, said a dispatch from that place this afternoon.

The Spartacans made an attempt to dominate the Assembly, said the dispatch, but were frustrated by the Ebert government forces, and "heavy rioting occurred." The dispatch brought no further details.

That Germany will refuse to sign the peace treaty and that the allies will resort to military intervention is regarded as inevitable, said a Berlin dispatch to the Politiken today.

The prevailing opinion among German leaders at Weimar today is that a majority of the National Assembly will refuse to sign the peace terms, say dispatches from there. Differences between Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, who arrived here from Versailles with the allied reply, and Dr. Matthias Erzberger of the German armistice commission, have been reconciled and efforts are being made to smooth over the differences in the government because of the crisis now facing the country.

The National Assembly will not discuss the terms until Friday. A member of the government declared today that only the prospect that Bolshevism will spread to Germany and the fear of starvation may prevent a majority of the Assembly from voting to reject the treaty.

The delegates to the Assembly seem more disposed to criticize the United States because of President Wilson's alleged failure to insist upon his original fourteen points than to criticize either England or France.

Ten Others Wounded in Juarez Battle; Thirty Mexicans Dead in Trenches

Washington, June 18.—Two Americans were killed, two severely wounded and eight slightly wounded in the engagements with the Villistas in the vicinity of Juarez on June 14 and 15, when United States forces crossed the border to disperse the bandit forces. A report of the casualties was forwarded to the War Department today by Major General Cabell, commanding the southern Department.

Casualties in the Villista forces engaged with the Americans are not definitely known, this dispatch added. Thirty dead Villistas were found in entrenchments near the Juarez race track after an attack by the 24th Infantry, and fifteen men were found in a Villista camp about six miles north of Zaragoza after an attack by a reenforced cvalry brigade, in which eleven Villistas were captured. The machine was taken from in front of No. 1024 Boylston street early today and recovered only after a pursuit which ended in Somerville. The cases of the defendants were continued a week.

BRAM SET FREE BY WILSON

Twice Convicted in Sea Tragedy of 1896; Now Grave Doubt as to Guilt

A full and unconditional pardon has been granted by President Wilson to Thomas M. C. Bram, who was serving a life sentence for the murder of Captain Charles I. Nash, his wife, Laura Nash, and the first mate of the barkentine Herbert Fuller in mid-ocean on a voyage out of Boston to South America in 1896.

Bram sent a letter to United States District Attorney Asa P. French today announcing that he was pardoned on June 12.

Bram was serving the term in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. He had been on parole since August, 1911. He was twice convicted at long and sensational trials, held in Boston and served seventeen years in a cell for a crime in connection with which there is now doubt that he was the assassin.

The pardon was granted on the ground of insufficient evidence, and the fact that Bram was always a model prisoner. He and his friends fought hard for years for his liberation. If Bram did not commit the

WALSH ASKS ACTION ON SENATE RESOLUTION

Paris, June 18.—Frank P. Walsh today asked the American peace commission to determine what disposition the full peace conference is to make of the United States Senate resolution requesting a hearing by the conference of representatives of the Irish republic. Walsh pointed out that unless action is taken soon delay by the conference will amount to a refusal of the request.

FRENCH CRUISER HAS TO SHIFT PASSENGERS

Washington, June 18.—The engines of the French cruiser Jean d'Arc, upon which President-elect Epitacio Pessoa of Brazil and his party are passengers, broke down at 7 o'clock last night, according to a dispatch to the Navy Department today. The position of the vessel at the time of the mishap was not given. Three hours later M. Pessoa and his party were transferred to the Emperator, which is due at New York tomorrow. The French vessel is being towed to the Azores.

British Mandate in Mexico Stirs Fitzgerald

Washington, D. C., June 18.—After reading press report that Great Britain might be given a mandatory over Mexico, Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts today presented the following resolution to the House declaring:

"That the House of Representatives and the senate protest against any such mandatory being given Great Britain and express the feeling that the United States is amply able to take care of any situation that may arise in the neighboring territory of Mexico."

Fitzgerald said that such an act would be the indictment of the United States and a violation of the Monroe doctrine.

State Department officials did not take the report seriously.

'BUS DRIVERS ARRAIGNED IN TEST CASE

Judge Creed Will Decide on Right of Jitneys to Run in Boston

Two men employed by the Boston Omnibus Company were in the city Court today in a test case to determine whether under present regulations, jitneys can be run on Boston streets.

The men were charged with illegal operation of motor vehicles. Judge Creed said he considered the case important, that counsel should file briefs by Saturday noon and that he would give his decision on June 25.

Former Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan, appearing for the defendants, argued as follows:

That the defendants had a common law right to operate upon the streets.

That a route had been laid out for them by the Street Commissioners.

That the Police Commissioner had declined to grant them a license either as a hackney or as a sight-seeing automobile.

That they had violated no law that, until the police commissioner made regulations for a third-class business, a jitney business, there was no regulation which the defendants could violate.

James M. Devlin, Jr., who appeared for the government by order of Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis, contended that the defendants could not operate legally unless they had a proper license from the Police Commissioner.

He declared that the only possible license that could be granted to such a vehicle as the defendants operated was a sight-seeing license, as called. He said they were not in the sight-seeing business.

He pointed out that the Boston City Council has not yet accepted the jitney act of 1916, and that the police commissioner did not feel that he should, by indirection, do what the City Council has power to do but has not done so far, namely, permit the running of jitneys.

3 JURORS QUICKLY CHOSEN

Selected From First 30 Talesmen for Trial of Barney and Dillon as Deininger Slayers

Three of the jurors who are to try Herman L. Barney and John F. Dillon, charged with the murder of Patrolman Charles E. Deininger in Chelsea three months ago, had been selected in Superior Criminal Court today when Judge Christopher T. Callahan called a recess.

Frank D. Doyle, forty-three, of No. 16 Ransom road, Dorchester, was the first juror to qualify. He took his seat after the first six talesmen had been excused or challenged. He was followed into the box by Daniel C. Fisher, thirty-nine, of No. 193 Algonquin street, Roxbury, and Eugene A. De Lorie, fifty, a carpenter, of No. 48 Clayton street, Dorchester.

A dozen of the thirty talesmen examined were found to have scruples against capital punishment, which prevent them from inflicting the death penalty in case a verdict of guilty was reached. Only one man was excused because of a previously formed opinion, while two were excused when they proved that they had performed jury service within the year.

SMILE CAUSES CHALLENGE.

While one of the prospective jurors was awaiting Assistant District Attorney Kinney's decision as to whether he was acceptable to the State, he caught the eye of Edward P. Harry, counsel for Dillon, and grinned. The former Lieutenant-Governor gave a broad smile and bow of recognition. He was thereupon hurriedly challenged by the Commonwealth.

FOUR TRANSPORTS AT NEW YORK WITH 16,744

New York, June 18.—Four transports carrying 16,744 officers and men, arrived here today. The Agamemnon and America came into quarantine in a big mid-stream race that started on the other side of the Atlantic and did not end until the Agamemnon docked a few minutes ahead of the America. The first early arrivals today were the Duca d'Abruzzi and the South Bend.

PLUNKETT PLEASED WITH "DOMINION OF IRELAND"

London, June 18.—In discussing Lord Northcliffe's phrase "the dominion of Ireland," in the Daily Mail, Sir Horace Plunkett, noted Irish leader, said today: "It is a happy augury. He associated the prophetic utterance with one of the greatest events of modern times, and he gives us words for the enemy of deep conviction. I believe things are moving Ireland's way. Ireland will know more two weeks from now."

"Zoza" Martin Read Palms of Social Favorites

Newport, R. I., June 18.—Bram Martin, the palmist, seer and psychic, whose claim to be administrator of the $1,343,000 estate of his wife, the late Mrs. Emma Harding Clark Martin of Medfield, Boston and Framingham, Mass., is opposed by her relatives, is called here as a Bohemian feature of several fashionable entertainments.

He had a private booth at society bazaars and other functions given by the late Mrs. Sherwood Fish, by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont at Marble House and by others. He told fortunes, also, in a room in an old-fashioned house on a side street here that crumbling stones and gate were the chief patrons.

One of the grounds of opposition set up by Mrs. Martin's relatives is that she and "Zoza" were not legally wed because the ceremony, which was performed by Middleton, was based on a Newport marriage license, which is alleged in State laws, valid only within Newport boundaries.

PRISONERS USE SAWS TO GAIN FREEDOM

Escape Through Skylight From State Prison at Concord, N. H.

Concord, N. H., June 18.—Two convicts made a daring escape from State Prison here early today.

The convicts are James Malone, a nineteen-year youth of Rochester, N. H., who had served two of a five years' sentence for breaking and entering, and Arthur Lalonde, twenty-one years of Canada, serving six to a fourteen years' sentence for an attack on a girl.

Using saws on the bars of their cells and fashioning rope out of bed sheets, wire and electric tape, the convicts reached the skylight of the block in which they were confined. After dropping from the skylight to the roof the remainder of their escape was easy.

Warden Caggswell is convinced that the getaway was the climax of months of careful planning. How the men obtained the wire and tape and saws is a mystery.

Their exit from their cells was concluded so as to give them ample time to reach the skylight after the guard had finished the first morning round of the corridor. The escape was not discovered until he passed on his second round.

Early this morning the two men were seen crossing Hewall's Falls bridge in West Concord, heading toward the north.

MINOR OPERATION ON LORD NORTHCLIFFE

London, June 18.—Lord Northcliffe was successfully operated upon today for removal of the thyroid gland.

WHITNEY TELLS OF ANALYSIS

Lawrence, June 18.—Professor William F. Whitney, Harvard University chemical expert and one of the star witnesses for the State at the murder trial of Mrs. Bessie May (Skeels) Lundgren, testified today that, in his opinion, arsenical poisoning caused the death of Miss Florence W. Gay of Andover, the Abbott Academy teacher whom Mrs. Lundgren, the "Sunshine Nurse," is accused of having poisoned.

He swore that his analysis of the stomach, liver and other organs of Miss Gay's body disclosed arsenic, a total amount of 3.336 grains.

He gave his opinion that arsenic had been present in these organs during Miss Gay's life. He found it distributed, he said, through the lungs, brain, heart, intestines, kidneys, spleen, muscles and in the spinal cord.

He declared that arsenic could not be so distributed through any embalming fluid.

One of the most dramatic bits of Professor Whitney's testimony concerned the total quantity of arsenic and the time it was administered, as follows:

Q.—Do you think she (Miss Gay) was poisoned by large or small doses?

A.—By more than a few grains done.

Q.—According to your examination, when was it administered?

A.—Somewhere between five or six days of Miss Gay's death.

Miss Gay died December 15. Witness said, in his opinion, arsenic was administered from December 9 to December 13.

He was asked if he had the actual deposit of arsenic. He said that he did. Thereupon he produced from his bag of exhibits a mirror showing steel-gray deposits. This was shown to the jury.

EXPERTS BATTLE.

Mrs. Lundgren, pale and with head bowed, sat back of her counsel during the testimony. Mr. Flynn has been sitting at the extreme right of the table with his head in his hands. Professor Whitney's face while the

GENERAL STRIKE IN WATERBURY PREDICTED

Waterbury, Conn., June 18.—A general strike of unskilled labor is predicted in this city by labor leaders following a walkout today of about 1,000 employes of the Scovill Manufacturing Company and two Waterbury brass companies. Members of the Brass Workers' Union, affiliated with the Scovill Company, voted unanimously to strike at noon today.

The unusual walkout of factory laborers was occasioned by a strike in the polishing and buffing plants.

FLYNN NAMED HEAD OF FINANCE BOARD

Eight hundred Providence passengers were waiting on the pier with tickets for the Britannia.

A Drama of Bitterness— "The Irish Question" By George Creel Appears BOSTON AMERICAN Tomorrow, June 19th

direct examination of the witness was being conducted by Attorney General Henry C. Attwill.

The examination of Professor Whitney was looked upon as particularly important, as the theory of arsenic in the fluid embalming as one of the features of the trial.

Professor Whitney had testified in substance and had corroborated to a large extent the testimony of experts who preceded him.

Q.—What did you find as the result of that examination? (objected to by Attorney Daley, for the defense, but the objection of Judge Thayer, arrangement was made at the bench. Judge Thayer overruled the objection, and the witness answered.) A.—The presence of arsenic.

Q.—What part of the organs did you find by State officer Griffin? A.—The liver and a portion of the liver and part of the stomach.

Q.—Did you make further examination of the liver? A.—I did, to determine the distribution and quantity of arsenic in the body.

AS TO EMBALMING.

Q.—As the result of your examination, can you state the amount of arsenic in the stomach? A.—About one-third of a grain.

Q.—How much in the liver? A.—Two grains and a fraction.

The witness said no fluid could be shooted through the body from the jugular incision, but that the femoral incision, the upper part of the thigh, could be used.

Q.—Did you make an examination of the spinal cord? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you make an examination of the cerebellum and cerebrum? A.—No.

Presence of nerve.

The total amount of arsenic found in the body was 2 1/2 grains according to the witness.

Q.—Is your opinion was there one-fourth of a grain of arsenic in the tissues? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Have you taught chemistry? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Have you an opinion as to whether the arsenic was present in these organs when death occurred? A.—Yes.

Q.—Could arsenic be introduced through any embalming fluid? A.—I do not.

Q.—From your examination of the organs, can you express an opinion as to the cause of death? A.—I can.

Q.—What was the cause of death? A.—The amount found in the liver was sufficient to produce death.

Q.—Can you state as to whether there was any irritation present? A.—That was part of the examination.

Q.—And did you find any evidence of an irritant poison? A.—I did not.

Witness was recalled the fact that Dr. Dow had told him that the throat showed no sign of irritant poisoning, and that the convolutions of the stomach were obliterated. He said that the brain showed post mortem changes.

Q.—Were they such that they would determine whether or not there was cerebral hemorrhage? A.—I don't think so.

HAS ARSENIC DEPOSIT.

The brain showed softness, due to post mortem changes, the witness said.

Such softness would not indicate brain disease, unless it showed right after death. The liver was soft and of a light yellowish color and the heart was normal. No evidence of ulceration was found in the intestines and the kidneys, though small, were in a good condition.

Q.—Have you the actual deposit of arsenic? A.—I have, sir.

The witness then produced his mirror from his bag of exhibits and the mirror, with its steel gray deposits, was shown the jury.

Q.—Wouldn't you have examined the body for irritant poison? A.—I was to find some evidence of irritation? And post mortem changes had destroyed it.

Q.—Arsenic is an irritant poison, and you would expect to find some evidence of irritation? A.—Not necessarily. A.—No sir, it passed down quickly into the intestines.

Q.—Do you think she was poisoned by large or small doses? A.—By more than a five grain dose.

FOUND ACUTE POISONING.

Q.—Then was the poisoning chronic or acute? A.—It was acute.

Q.—According to your examination, was it administered? A.—Somewhere between five or six days of Miss Gay's death.

The witness stated that in his opinion arsenic was administered from Dec. 6 to the day of Miss Gay's death.

Professor Whitney said he could tell from his analysis whether or not Miss Gay had been using arsenic.

Q.—Did you examine the lungs? A.—I did.

Q.—Did you know the cause of assigned for death was cerebral hemorrhage? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you speak with Dr. Abbott regarding the possibilities of arsenical poisoning? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Do you know whether Dr. Abbott said of her symptoms? That she was nervous, and irritable, exasperated, run-down, showed symptoms of collapse and vomited.

ARSENIC FOR SKIN DISEASE.

Q.—You testified before the third Jury in September, 1918, and didn't complete your analysis until the following February? A.—That is true.

Q.—Did Dr. Rose assist you in making your determination? A.—No, sir.

Q.—It is true, isn't it, that some people become used to arsenic and are not affected by it? A.—Yes, they become tolerant.

Q.—You know that it is used for skin diseases? A.—Yes.

Q.—And that in some instances physicians use arsenic for beautifying purposes? A.—It is so reported.

Q.—It is true that some people use to take arsenic tonic, isn't that so? A.—Yes.

Q.—If a person was vomiting at 10 o'clock, they would be sick? A.—I think it's off wouldn't they? A.—Yes.

Q.—What led you to the conclusion that arsenic was the cause of death? A.—The amount found in the liver.

Q.—Did you have any examination as to whether there was any irritant present? A.—That was part of the examination.

Q.—And did you find any evidence of an irritant poison. A.—I did not.

Witness was recalled the fact that Dr. Dow had told him that the throat showed no sign of irritant poisoning.

Death by Poison, Expert's Belief

Q.—From your examination of the organs can you express an opinion as to the cause of death of Miss Gay? A.—I can. It was arsenical poisoning.

Q.—Can you express an opinion whether it was consistent with life to have two grains of arsenic in the liver? A.—No, sir, it was not.

Q.—Was the condition consistent with the administration of arsenic extending over two or three weeks followed by one or two large doses? A.—It was.

—From testimony of Professor Whitney, poison expert, at Skeels trial today.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Cross examination was begun by Attorney Daley, who questioned the witness regarding his qualifications. Witness said he had studied chemistry at Harvard and that was the only time he studied it.

Q.—You never taught chemistry, did you? A.—No, sir.

Witness said he used the laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, Harvard, to make the tests, and that while Professor Smith made the preliminary examination he verified the findings.

Q.—When you receive the organs from the coroner, do you examine them for the cause of death? A.—I do.

Q.—Was it a condition that you could determine if there was any cerebral hemorrhage? A.—No, there was not.

Q.—Can you express an opinion whether it was consistent with life to have two grains of arsenic in the liver? A.—No, sir, it was not.

Q.—Assuming that the arsenic that you found in the various organs was given in a single dose, what is the smallest amount that could be given? A.—More than five grains.

CONFERS WITH EXPERTS.

Q.—When the examination consistent with the administration of arsenic extending over two or three weeks, followed by one or two large doses? A.—It was.

The witness demonstrated apparatus used in making tests for arsenic, known as the Marsh test.

Q.—Did you determine the amount in any other way than to use one of this apparatus? A.—I did. I weighed it.

During the direct examination of the witness Attorney General Attwill was in constant consultation with the other experts for the prosecution, and they suggested questions.

Q.—Would the amount received from the liver constitute a deadly dose? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Is not a steel gray compound with antimony? A.—Antimony produces a black color.

Professor Whitney testified that he made a test of the organs of Miss Gay on June 6, and that he completed his final analysis on February 5, 1919.

Neither Dr. Magrath nor Dr. Boss assisted him to make his final determination, he said.

Q.—How did you first decide that it was arsenic? A.—From its appearance. It was steel gray in color.

Q.—Is not a steel gray compound with antimony? A.—Antimony produces a black color.

Professor Whitney testified that he made a test of the organs of Miss Gay on June 6, and that he completed his final analysis on February 5, 1919.

Q.—Will you explain how you made your determination? A.—By the Marsh test.

Q.—How much arsenic would a person have to take to produce death in the stomach to get two grains into the liver? A.—Not more than two grains.

Q.—Would a dose of a couple of hour or five grains introduced into the stomach be deadly? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you analyze the assistant's embalming fluid? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did it contain any arsenic? A.—It did not.

CORPORATIONS LIABLE FOR AGENTS' WORDS

Supreme Court Upholds Decision in Case of Two Girls Accused by Dept. Store

A corporation may be held liable for damages for language uttered through their servants or agents, says the full bench of the Supreme Court in the case of Mildred P. Mills and Ruth E. Godfrey against the W. T. Grant Co. which conducts a department store in Lynn.

On Dec. 4, 1915, the plaintiffs, while in the store of the defendant, were accused by a woman detective of having stolen some beads, and on being taken before the manager he repeated the accusation in an effort to induce the plaintiffs to give up the beads.

At a trial in the Superior Court for Essex County of suits brought by the plaintiffs against the Grant Company, the late Judge Charles S. Shattuck gave this instruction to the jury: "The defendants, of course, as a corporation, can only do anything through agents or servants, and if here agents or servants of this corporation were doing this in the course of their employment, which is for you to find whether or not they were, then the corporation is responsible."

The jury returned verdicts for the plaintiffs, and the defendants took exceptions to the Supreme Court. That court holds that the ruling of Judge Shattuck was correct, and the decision is of interest because of a general belief among attorneys that a corporation could not be held liable in such action.

BRAM IS GIVEN HIS FREEDOM BY WILSON

Served Seventeen Years After He Had Been Twice Convicted

crime the question is revived after all these years: Who was the real murderer?

TRIED IN BOSTON.

The parallel comes as the final curtain in one of the most famous maritime tragedies in the history of this port, and one that attracted international interest.

Bram was arrested at Halifax, N. S., in July, 1896, and brought to Boston for trial. He was indicted and tried solely on the death of Captain Nash. Brown, a Swede, whose right name was Westerberg, a member of the crew, and Lester Monks, of Brookline, who was a passenger on the barkentine making the trip for his health, were sharply questioned at the time.

Bram's first trial occurred in December, 1896. The jury remained out twenty-four hours and found Bram guilty of murder in the first degree. Under the Federal law the penalty for first degree murder on the high sea was death by hanging.

Bram's counsel carried the case before the United States Supreme Court at Washington on exceptions. The higher tribunal set aside the verdict on the ground that the evidence was insufficient to warrant such a verdict and ruled that an alleged confession should have been excluded as incompetent. Since then Federal officials say the so-called confession was flimsy.

CONVICTED SECOND TIME.

The second trial was held in the Spring of 1898, and after deliberating a night and day the jury convicted Bram in the first degree a second time. But between the two trials Congress had passed an act empowering a jury to modify a verdict by recommending life imprisonment or the death penalty. The second jury recommended life imprisonment.

Bram is alive today and free by the prank of fate that caused passage of such a law between his two trials, because District Attorney French said today that the law was adopted in the course of events and was not in any way inspired by the Bram case.

TRANSFERRED TO ATLANTA.

Bram was sentenced to the State Prison in Charlestown and was transferred to Atlanta, November 26, 1906.

Bram's letter to District Attorney French expressed thanks and pleasure and closed with the sentence: "I remain your good friend and innocent client."

Mr. French from time to time was obliged to review the case and to write documents for the various pardon proceedings.

Iceland Plans Air Service to New York.

Washington, June 18.—If a large hydroplane alights on the water near the Statue of Liberty within the next month or two, and its skipper answers "Iceland" to the hail of the water front boys, it will be a thrilling confirmation of official advices to Washington which state that Iceland intends to establish a regular air service between Reykjavik, its capital, and the eastern ports of the United States. P. A. Olafson, the consul at Reykjavik, is quoted as saying that two hydroplanes with sufficient power to accomplish a trans-Atlantic flight are already in commission and that a large aeroplane corporation has been formed to bring about regular aerial voyages between Iceland and the United States.

GOMPERS CONSENTS TO SERVE ANOTHER TERM

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18.—Samuel Gompers has consented to serve one more term as president of the American Federation of Labor, at the end of which time he will retire, according to information about the convention today. As a result of this determination it is not likely that the veteran labor leader will be opposed for re-election.

Miss Mae Matinews of New York and Miss Rose Sullivan of Philadelphia have arrived here and announced today the progress of organization among telephone girls. The work of organizing the girls has been proceeding under cover for some time, but an open campaign is now being started in view of Postmaster-General Burleson's recognition of their right to bargaining.

DR. GARFIELD RETURNS TO WILLIAMSTOWN

Williamstown, June 18.—Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, has returned to Williamstown after a long absence due to his work as United States Fuel Administrator.

Commencement festivities at Williams will begin tomorrow afternoon with a baseball game with the University of Vermont. In the evening the senior promenade will be held.

A. F. OF L. ASKED TO AID KEYMEN IN STRIKE

Telegraphers' Local Wires to Atlantic City Convention; Mass Meeting Planned

All the members of the Boston Commercial Telegraphers' Local Union No. 4, on strike for the right to belong to a labor union and to bargain collectively with their employers regarding wages, hours of work, etc., adopted a resolution which was forwarded to the A. F. of L. convention at Atlantic City.

This calls attention to the convention's indorsement of the threatened strike of the telephone and electrical workers and demands a similar indorsement for the striking telegraphers, whose organization is also a component part of the A. F. of L.

Plans are being completed for an open mass meeting of the Boston striking telegraphers to be held some night this week in Fay Hall, Washington and Dover streets, invitations to attend being extended to the public, labor men and officials of the Western Union and Postal companies.

Local 4's purpose in calling this meeting is to clear up all misunderstandings and rumors that have arisen and to offset alleged efforts that have been made to befog the situation and to minimize the fact that a strike is in progress for what the union's members point out is their constitutional right.

STEAMSHIP CAPTAIN IN COURT OVER POSTAL CARD

Henry W. Gegg, captain of the steamship Lake Indian, with a home at No. 160 East Clarefield street, Philadelphia, appeared before United States Commissioner Hayes in the Federal Building today on a charge of sending a postcard through the mails, against the postal laws, to E. E. O'Donnell, a steamship inspector at Boston. He pleaded not guilty, was held in $500 bonds for a hearing on June 20 and allowed to go free on his own recognizance by Commissioner Hayes. It was charged that Gegg sent a card from Newport News on December 24, 1916, that previously indicated in letter and postal against the character of another person.

DEVOTION OF BROTHER RESTORES GOOD NAME OF TWO INNOCENT GIRLS

YOUNG SISTER AND FRIEND IN PRISON 4 DAYS AS FLIRTS

New York, June 18.—A brother's devotion and four months' effort to remove an unjustified stain from his sister's name met its reward today. In restoring to his sister her honorable status in society, the brother also cleared the name of the woman's closest friend.

It is a story that surpasses in the ♦ injustice represented even the scene where the Man of Galilee challenged the rabble to begin stoning a woman only after one "without sin" should cast the first.

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, in General Sessions, freed Miss Sallie Kohln, twenty-three years old, and Miss Lillian Kahn, twenty-two, of the charge of soliciting, based on disorderly conduct. He then criticized the officer who had arrested them and the magistrate who had termed them guilty.

PRISON LIFE NIGHTMARE.

The girls were arrested the night of March 4. For four days they were held in the Jefferson Market prison, lodged among incorrigible women who ♦ led them, sneered at them and otherwise made their stay such a nightmare of experience that Miss Kahn's poise was threatened, it is said.

Only on the usual physical examination was the fact revealed that Miss Kahn and Miss Kohln were undeniably innocent. Miss Kahn yesterday related her story to a reporter at her home, No. 214 Henry street. She said:

"But for the medical examination, conducted by a woman physician while we were in prison, Lilly and myself might have been railroaded to jail, ostracised from society, denied the sacred right of marriage, barred from business and from contributing to the support of our families. I am not so sure it hasn't turned out to be a calamity, even though Judge Rosalsky completely exonerated us and directed us to bring a civil suit against Patrolman John F. Gunson, who arrested us.

ACCOSTED IN STREET.

"I had been visiting Lilly at her home, No. 159 South Second street, Brooklyn. It was 5 o'clock on March 4. I suggested we go to a motion picture near Times Square. We arrived too late for the picture and began walking uptown. Two men in civilian clothes accosted us three times. We did not speak to them. We then went to the Astor Hotel and came from the woman's rest room and through 'Peacock Alley' and went outside.

"The same men met us again and made rude remarks. One of them said: 'That's a fine built girl. I like her.' The other snickered. The policeman in plain clothes who arrested us was eyeing us suspiciously. We didn't like the looks of him then and suspected he was just another one of the fresh men who haunt Broadway to insult women.

"I am in the government employ, working in the Quartermaster's Department as typist. Consequently, when a big, strapping lieutenant spoke to us I didn't take it amiss, thinking perhaps he was one of the men in our office. Any way, it was at a time when the war spirit was active and many women nodded when soldiers spoke. He said he was what had been laughing about, saying:

"'I want to laugh, too, girls; what's the joke?'

SEIZED BY POLICEMAN.

"He then said he was going to meet a friend at Forty-second street and Broadway and asked us to walk with him. He was a perfect gentleman. We said we were on our way home. We met his friend, another lieutenant, and we were introduced properly enough. Then the officers asked us if we wanted a drink. We said 'no,' and were about to go home when I felt a heavy hand grasp my arm. It was Officer Gunson. He had another officer with him. He then asked the soldiers if they knew us and if we had asked them to go to a room or dance hall. The officers said we had not. Gunson said;

"'You're under arrest. Come on to the station.'

"He refused to let us ride in a street car and insisted us by calling the patrol. Broadway was crowded with pleasure seekers. It was 9:45 o'clock, Lilly cried.

"We were taken to the Women's Night Court. Magistrate Franois Mancuso refused to hear us that night and we went in jail until a hearing in the morning. We were frantic. Lewd women made the worst remarks I ever heard.

"We learned more in that jail experience than in all the rest of our lives. We were almost tempted to lose faith in mankind, so awful were the stories told by broken-down women. Many of them had evidences of disease.

BROTHER COMES TO AID.

"We didn't know how to tell our mothers of the awful predicament we were in. We thought they wouldn't understand. The women physician examined us and said:

"'My God, how did you little girls get here? It is an outrage!'

"But we had been sentenced by that time. Then I knew my brother Benjamin, who is a mechanical engineer, and who graduated from the Hebrew Technical School with high honors, would understand. He is a young fellow, but he knows I am good. I wrote him a note. He went to Assistant District Attorney Samuel Markewitz. Mr. Markewitz procured the stenographic notes on our hearing and then saw the physician who had examined us.

"Lilly tried to tell her employers, the Benjamin Smith Skirt Company, where she was a saleswoman, that she had been ill while visiting friends. They said they didn't believe her and discharged her outright. We told our people we had been away visiting, but probation officers meanwhile had visited them and intimated we were bad.

COURT SCORES OFFICER.

"We then procured suspended sentences. The many horrible fears we had about the case becoming known has made us worry ourselves sick. Today in court that officer stuck to his story.'

Judge Rosalsky said today:

"New York city is an unsafe place for your sister, my sister or any one's women relatives to be if this sort of thing keeps up. Here were two pretty little misses, both virtuous, as evidenced by natural condition. They were sentenced on the word of an officer, who had no facts which warranted their arrest, and by a magistrate who was wholly unwarranted in sentencing them.

"They spoke to officers. Is that a crime? Did they do anything which your sister or my sister would not have done in a time when patriotic women were doing everything to show appreciation for our men at arms? I hope the girls will bring a civil suit against the officer, not with the idea of recovering damages, but with a view of setting an example to other officers not to be overzealous in cases of this kind to get a record. It has happened before, and will happen again if not curbed.

WOULD SEIZE MEN, TOO.

"How about the men concerned? Are our sex standards so far apart that the men are unanswerable? They, the testimony showed, were the ones who did all the flirting. We should have a law that when any woman is arrested, no matter who or what she is, in a case of this character the men involved also must appear in court. This 'unknown man' situation probably has caused many women inconvenience. I know of a case where a woman was arrested while hastening to meet her husband.

"The wonder is that these sweet and innocent girls have not suffered a severer punishment.

Both young women denied that they were engaged to be married and added that they were 'glad they weren't,' saying that men would be loath to understand them as Miss Kohln's father is dead and she and her brother support their mother and three other children. Miss Kahn is the chief contributor to the support of her mother, father and a brother and sister. Both young women say they will sue Gunson.

Gunson then was in the police department three years.

GALLO CHARGED WITH SLASHING TWO MEN

Raymond Gallo, about twenty-five years old, claiming to live in Somerville, was arrested after a bicycle chase in the Thompson Square district, Charlestown, on a charge of assault with a knife on William Murphy and John Scanlan, both of Boston, as a result of an argument which started in front of No. 185 Main street, Charlestown. Murphy was slashed on the lower part of the chest.

Gallo ran up the collection of the Thompson Square Theatre and attempted to board a passing car to flee to the crowd, but was overtaken by Scanlan, who was given a knife wound on the face.

Gallo was beaten by the crowd. The men were treated at the Relief Hospital.

LAWRENCE FACES STRIKE OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

Lawrence, June 18.—Lawrence looks forward to a strike of public teachers in September because the recent raise of $100 per year granted by the School Board does not satisfy them. The demand of $150 originally asked for will be again urged, or an additional $200 to the amount already voted. A delegation from the school teachers waited upon the school authorities today and gave them their ultimatum. As a result, a number of dissatisfied teachers to refuse to return to their old jobs in September unless the city pays them what they ask.

Brockton, June 18.—False teeth removed from a pasta bowl, a market value of 75 cents per set, according to Lieutenant Daniel E. Gordon, who pressed larceny charge against Miss Mabel E. Miss Chamberlain removed the teeth from the plate and then sold them to a local dentist, the police claim.

The trip over the ocean is expected to take about fifty hours. More than 300 mechanics are to lend a hand to help moor the giant gas bag when it arrives at the great aerial landing place. Several wireless stations along the coast are to send out signals to aid in guiding the airship after they start.

HURL STONES AT AMERICANS IN JUAREZ

El Paso, Tex., June 18.—The first demonstration against Americans in Juarez since Sunday's battle between Villistas and the American troops occurred when workmen sent across the international bridge to repair car tracks were assaulted by Mexican civilians. They fled to the river and sought protection from soldiers at the bridge.

The unfriendly attitude of the Mexicans was not alone directed toward workmen. Business men of El Paso with civil passports and military passes were denied entrance to Juarez, and a number who succeeded in entering the city were spat upon by Mexican women, cursed and stoned by boys. The Mexican guards at each bridge spanning the river threatened to obliterate American automobiles entering the town.

Mexican civilians sympathetic to Villa are threatening American troops with shooting up adobe homes and other property and with killing Carranza soldiers.

Villa was today reported approaching the Parral where American mining interests are important. Americans here fear Villa will seek revenge on Americans throughout Chihuahua, especially at Parral.

Military and civil authorities here today are taking every possible precaution to prevent demonstrations of hostility against Americans by warning all American citizens to remain away from Juarez until conditions have again become normal. Feeling in Juarez against the Americans remains high and the authorities are anxious to avoid actions that might aggravate the anti-American sentiment.

All damage done in Juarez during the recent fighting is charged against the United States troops by the Mexicans, and the Americans are accused of shooting into the homes of citizens.

Because of the intense feeling the authorities have not permitted the saloons to reopen in Juarez. Armed citizens are more numerous on the streets of the town than ever before.

Along the entire line of the border today the American military guard is on the alert to prevent any raid upon American border towns which Villa might attempt in reprisal for his defeat at the hands of American troops Monday at Juarez.

Villa is believed to be moving toward Parral, where there are large American mining interests. It is reported several mining companies are warning their employes to seek safety in anticipation of attacks on their property by Villistas.

SIX FRENCH FENCERS DEFEATED BY AMERICAN

Paris, June 18.—Six of France's best fencers went down to defeat before Lieutenant William c. Westphal, American Middle Western fencing champion, who came out victor in a series of round-robin fencing matches at the Joan of Arc tournament held by the Parisian Fencing Society. Another American, Sergeant John F. Murphy, was fourth in the series.

Shaking 2,000 Hands Worse Than Flight, Says Alcock

By Universal Service.

London, June 18.—"The worst part of an Atlantic flight is after you've landed."

So declared Captain John Alcock at the banquet tendered him by the Royal Aero Club.

He said he had written more than 400 autographs between Holyhead and Euston and shaken 2,000 hands.

Captain Alcock laughingly confessed that the hand gripped the joy-stick of the Vickers-Vimy for sixteen hours and twelve minutes was temporarily paralyzed.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND HAS WOMAN PREACHER PUZZLE

London, June 18.—Whether women should be allowed to preach in the Church of England threatens to divide that organization into two camps. One would be supported by the bishops, is in favor of allowing women to be ordained ministers. The other, of which the English Church Union forms a substantial part, is opposed to the ordination of women pastors, however cultured and religious they might be in the "thin edge of the wedge" sense. Meanwhile, however, the Rev. Maude Royden, a woman preacher, has been invited to occupy the pulpit of the City Temple, London, on Sunday.

The convocation next July may be called upon to settle the question.

Those opposed to the innovation assert large numbers will desert to the Roman Catholic church if women are allowed to preach.

DEFERS TRIAL OF MRS. O'BRIEN AND HURLEY

BARNEY ON TRIAL AS SLAYER

Dillon Also Arraigned as Principal; Mrs. O'Brien and Hurley to Be Tried Later challenged six talesmen, while the prosecution used by three of the twenty-two challenges to which the defence, it was entitled.

Barney and Dillon appeared in court dressed in the height of fashion. Both wore silk shirts with pronounced stripes and decidedly loudish cravats, while Barney wore a red rose on his coat lapel.

A decision to try the murder indictments by themselves came following an all-morning conference between the attorneys and Judge Christopher T. Callahan in chambers. In open court it was announced that Judge Callahan had decided that Mrs. Marion O'Brien and Joseph Hurley, alleged accessories, would be tried separately from the alleged principals.

This action by the judge followed a long battle waged by John F. McDonald, for Hurley, and Francis Joggins, for Mrs. O'Brien, for separate trials. It was contended that the sensational escape from the Dedham jail by Barney had tended to prejudice the cases of the alleged accessories.

BIG CROWD AT TRIAL.

The opening of the trial in Superior Criminal Court attracted a host of spectators, who found that admission to the courtroom was not always to be had for the asking.

A high rail had been improvised behind which stood officers in uniform or plain clothes, scrutinizing each applicant for admission.

Indications are that one of the hardest legal battles waged in Massachusetts in some years is in prospect.

Ordinarily in murder cases the Commonwealth has been in position to show the weapon with which a crime was committed and to present some evidence which would place the entire blame for the alleged crime on some person or persons. In the present instance there is no weapon to display to the jurors. Nor has the Commonwealth a witness to the actual killing.

For the defense, the array of legal talent includes Thomas C. Murphy and Francis Joggins for Barney; Edward P. Barry, former lieutenant-governor, for Dillon; John F. McDonald for Hurley, and Francis Joggins for Mrs. O'Brien.

William S. Kinney, Mr. Pelletier's most recent appointee to the prosecutor's office, will represent the State. It is highly probable that he will be assisted by one or another of the assistant district attorneys.

CAPT. DAILEY WITNESS.

Assisting Mr. Kinney will be Captain Matthew Dailey of the Hanover Street Station, the superior officer who sent Patrolman Deininger into Chelsea on the night he met his death. Captain Dailey will also be a government witness.

Through testimony to be offered by police officers of both Boston and Chelsea the Commonwealth will show that Patrolman Deininger was sent to death at a garage in Winthrop road, Chelsea, on the night of February 13. Medical Examiner George B. Magrath will be called to show that the bullet which ended Deininger's life was of such a nature as commonly used in an automatic revolver.

He will describe the results of his autopsy, telling in detail of the severing of the aorta artery by the bullet. His evidence will be purely technical and of the sort calculated to prove that death resulted from the bullet. It will also be attempted to show through Dr. Magrath the angle at which the bullet was fired and also the possible location of Deininger at the time he was hit.

WAS WITH DEININGER.

Boston and Chelsea officers will describe the incidents leading up to the shooting. One of these officers, Special Officer John Burke of the Chelsea force, will testify to having seen two men approach the garage. He will also identify one of two men as being the one who looked through a screened window and into the garage. Burke can tell exactly what happened inside the garage prior to the time Patrolman Deininger went out the door and was shot down.

In part his evidence will be corroborated by Patrolman William J. Shea of the Hanover street station, who was assigned to Chelsea with Deininger. The facts attendant upon the arrival of an automobile near the scene will be described by Patrolman Walter Barden, who investigated the movements and noted the number of the machine.

The chase after the two men, one of whom is supposed to have shot Patrolman Deininger, will be described by these officers. Captain Dailey, with Sergeant John M. D. Anderson, will describe the arrest of most of those being tried and also conversations held with several of them at one time or another.

WILL TELL OF ESCAPE.

Sheriff Keliher will be called on to testify to Barney's escape from the Charles street jail on May 29.

Police officers from Brighton will testify to the recapture of Barney in that district, the night following his escape. Albert Paeff, recently convicted on the charge of stealing an automobile, will be a government witness, as will William T. McCulgan, a Chelsea dealer in second hand automobiles. Paeff was himself detained soon after the death of Deininger, but following an investigation was released.

McCulgan is supposed to have loaned an overcoat to one of the defendants on the night Deininger was slain. He is also supposed to have kept the defendant's overcoat during the time his coat was in use.

Joseph Colonna, driver of the automobile in which the defendants are alleged to have made the trip from Boston to Chelsea, will be another witness called by the State. Colonna will describe the hiring of his car, the ride to Chelsea and the subsequent dash back to Boston. He was held as a prisoner, but on the failure of the grand jury to indict him he was released, but put under bonds as a material witness.

Wife Can't Collect Hubby's Salary, Say Debaters

Philadelphia, Pa., June 18.—No, Louise, hubby does not have to pay you a salary. And there's no use trying to make him pass over each week that $19.48, because two eminent debaters, who insist that they represented the whole of Philadelphia, decided just the opposite at the Baptist Temple here. Professor John Dendix Mahoney and the Rev. Dr. E. P. Haas used up about all the words in circulation debating on the subject, with the result that when the vote was finally taken every member of the audience, with the exception of two men, decided that "dear wifey" should not share in the spoils of married life. Love, just love, not cash, should satisfy her, as the speakers put it. Professor Calvin Osborne Althouse and C. Oscar Heisler argued on the affirmative side.

During the excitement the young men, whom Collins believed to be thieves, ran away.

Men Caught in Providence Say Their Homes Are in Newton

Providence, R. I., June 18.—The Providence police today arrested, on a charge of stealing an auto, James J. Lewis, twenty-seven, who gave his address as No. 239 Washington street, Newton, and Daniel O'Connell, twenty-four, who said he was from 18 Pembroke street, also in Newton, and with their arrest Chief Inspector John F. Maguire of the Providence police believe he has caught two men who were members of an auto thieving ring in Boston.

The two Newton men were arrested in front of a "sporting" cafe here just as they were about to start off in the car, which is a brand new Buick with the registration number "Mass. 238527." The Boston police yesterday sent out an alarm to police of various cities to watch out for a car bearing this number, and which is said to have been stolen in Brockton yesterday afternoon.

A car bearing the number of the missing Buick dashed through Providence yesterday afternoon with two men in it. Late last night they returned to the city and left the car in front of a cafe. After words the police here describe as an all-night orgy the two men emerged from the cafe and were arrested.

Although the men gave their names and addresses in Newton, they refused to make any statement. Chief Inspector Maguire is holding them for investigation and for further information from the Boston police.

LITTLE BOY IS VICTIM IN MYSTERY SHOOTING

Robert D. Mitchell, eight years old and colored, is on the danger list at Cambridge Hospital following a mysterious shooting in his home, No. 114 Banks street, Cambridge. Thomas Flemming, thirty-five and also colored, a lodger in the Mitchell home is under arrest charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. The police learned of the shooting when the boy's mother called up and demanded hospital treatment for him. She said the revolver was accidentally discharged by the young Mitchell. One of the premises disclosed the gun, hidden in a chimney, and a number of discarded cartridges strewn about the yard.

ANDREW G. GALLIGAN, missing Waltham boy. If you see him send him home to his anxious parents.

If you are twelve-year-old Andrew G. Galligan turn him around and start him back home to No. 1090 Main street, Waltham, where a distracted father and mother have anxiously been awaiting news of him since Friday.

The youngster's departure to see the world endangers his mother's health, and the further fact that not the slightest clew of his whereabouts has been obtained makes her even more anxious for his safety.

Young Galligan's flight was effected without his being seen, but he is supposed to have fled on a freight car. He and also considered, a lodger in the Mitchell home is under arrest charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. The police learned of the shooting when the boy's mother called up and demanded hospital treatment for him. She said the revolver was accidentally discharged by the young Mitchell. One of the premises disclosed the gun, hidden in a chimney, and a number of discarded cartridges strewn about the yard.

BRANDS TALES OF SLAUGHTER AS LIES

By Universal Service.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18.—The Soviet system is a demonstrated success in Russia, according to Wilfred Humphries of Honolulu, formerly in the service of the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross in Russia, and later an agent of the Committee on Public Information engaged in the distribution of translations of President Wilson's fourteen points among the former subjects of the Czar.

Humphries, who was a visitor at the American Federation of Labor convention, said he spent nearly a year in European Russia, and travelled about 2,000 miles back and forth, using railroads and whatever other means of conveyance he found available. When he left Russia, about five months ago, he said, the railroads were functioning smoothly. Factories, too, were working smoothly. There was no basis, he declared, for the stories of industrial collapse and stories of widespread massacres were equally baseless.

DRASTIC KILLINGS LIES.

"Food hoarding and speculation are punishable with death," he said. "The same penalty is provided for grafting, and also, I believe, for drunkenness."

Replying to a question as to the wholesale executions reported to have taken place under the Lenine-Trotsky regime, Mr. Humphries said:

"Seventy-five per cent. of the stories purported to emanate from Russia are a hundred per cent. lies. Up to the time I left Russia, 1,335 persons had been executed. Of this number some 60 per cent. were Soviet officials, grafters and traitors."

Speaking of general industrial conditions in Central Russia, where the Soviet sway is undisputed, he said:

"I visited several factories around Moscow and a friend of mine visited 25 others. All were running smoothly. These were mostly textile mills, munition works and iron foundries."

CROWDS ATTEND OPERAS.

Continuing, he said: "While I was in Moscow I heard more grand opera than I had ever heard before. The performances were excellent. Italian, French and German operas were produced as well as Russian. Maeterlinck's 'Blue Bird' ran for two weeks, but all tickets were snapped up long in advance. There was not a seat to be had. I saw plays by Shaw, Shakespeare, Gorky and Tolstoi."

PUT $6,000,000 CARGO UP AT AUCTION

Salvaged Goods From Sunken British Freighter Sold at Commonwealth Pier

Auction sale of a large part of the $6,000,000 cargo salvaged from the British freighter Port Hunter, which was sunk November 2 last on Hedge Fence Shoals, Nantucket Sound, following a collision with the tug Covington, began today at Commonwealth Pier. Thousands of dollars' worth of the highest grade woolen suits, rubber boots, aviators' leather jackets, wool socks, woolen trousers, lanterns, fire extinguishers and all imaginable kinds of merchandise were put up for auction. The sale was under direction of Colonel W. H. Hart, zone supply officer.

The first lots put up for bids consisted of about $250,000 worth of woolen garments which were quickly purchased by about 200 bidders from Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, parts of Maine, New Hampshire and the Middle West. The first lot of woolen undershirts sold at the rate of 67½ cents apiece. Other lots of the same sold at the rate of 70 cents a garment and there was vigorous bidding. The garments cost the Government as high as $3.50 each by the thousand contract price.

Most of the material from the Port Hunter, which was on its way from Boston to New York to join her convoy when sunk, has been salvaged by a private firm under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel H. P. Barry, assistant zone supply officer. William Jacobus of New York, for many years an expert in the condemned goods stores of the navy, was the auctioneer.

Lots of 5,000 woolen garments were sold at seventy cents, with indications of higher prices being obtained. It is thought the sale will last several days. The first lot of five bales of woolens was knocked down to a Jewish dealer from New York's East Side at the rate of seventy cents a garment.

Soon after the Port Hunter sank, local fishermen and their wives made the best they could out of the precious cargo, and even today natives of the Islands and coast villages in Nantucket Sound are wearing the remains of leather aviation jerkins. Most of the goods salvaged by the fisher folk has been returned and the Government has paid the voluntary salvagers 50 per cent. of the value of the article recovered.

AMERICAN LAND KING HAS 14,080,000 ACRES

London, June 18.—Even the Duke of Sutherland, with his 800,000 acres, and Lord Leverhulme, with 560,000, make a poor showing in comparison with Henry Miller, the American land king.

Miller, who emigrated to the States as a penniless lad from Wurttemberg, now owns estates covering 14,080,000 acres, or more than twice the total area of his native land.

Some ingenious admirer has made an elaborate calculation which shows that Miller could start at the Mexican border, traveling by team to British Columbia, and camp every night of the journey upon his own land.

BIG "BOMB" IN STREET GIVEN WIDE BERTH

Long Beach, Cal., June 18.—Pedestrians walked around a big "bomb" in the street here for more than an hour. It was tightly wrapped in a newspaper and showed red through a torn place. The report quickly spread that the object was dangerous and might explode if disturbed. The police were summoned and discovered that the "bomb" was nothing more than a harmless red brick done up in package form.

TELLS WHY U. S. MEN DISLIKE THE FRENCH

American Soldiers Were Cheated and Slighted, Says Temperance Leader

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Assertions by Representatives Kahn and Madden that American soldiers do not like France are "not the whole truth but are under-statements," according to Dean Pickett, research secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who has just returned from service overseas. Here are the reasons the doughboys are dissatisfied, according to a statement issued by Pickett today:

"An inquiry as I would analyze it, the dissatisfaction of the American soldier was due to overwearing, short shrinking and a conviction that the French government had professed idealism only to get us into the war, with no intention of carrying out its professions, the French habit of arguing by the long and the double, widespread immorality and the failure of the French to show the soldier that this was not typical of all France, by taking him into respectable and cultured French homes. The lack of suitable arrangements for the association of French women with colored men, and, above all, the settled belief of the doughboy that the French are without gratitude or friendship for this country.

"This is the situation which must be dealt with. I hope and believe the resentment will fade away after the boys return home."

Pickett also said the average American soldier does not resent the enactment of national prohibition, quoting one as saying:

"I was told these people drink wine and were never drunk; the truth is that they are never sober."

Bolshevik Grants to Be Annulled by Russians

London, June 18.—American financiers and other persons contemplating taking a chance on making a fortune from a concession granted by the Russian Bolsheviki are hereby cautioned to "desist" and save their money. For as soon as the Bolsheviki are ousted such concessions will be declared invalid.

Here is the text of an official warning issued by Prince Lvoff, Sazonoff, N. Tchaikovsky and B. Makiakoff, former officials of a constitutional Russia, now in Paris:

"A series of reports have recently appeared in the European and American press regarding important concessions which the Bolsheviki have contemplated granting to foreigners in Russia. The representatives of Russia deem it their duty to declare, in order to allay all misunderstandings, that no agreement with the Bolsheviki authorities regarding concessions or privileges will be recognized by the national authorities, and that all transactions concluded by foreigners with representatives of the Soviets will be considered null and void."

NEWPORT WAITS CONTEST OVER HALL ESTATE

Report Dispute of Boston Hotel May Be Heard by Court

Newport, June 18.—According to reports, as yet somewhat uncertain, there is at least a possibility of a contest over the estate of George Gardner Hall, who owned "Hall Manor," on the Portsmouth, R. I.

Attorneys in the case say that Mrs. Hall, besides claiming the title to two houses, seeks to prove her right to possession of the majority of the stock of the George G. Hall Company, owners of the Adams House, Boston.

Property in the year of the latter valued, it is said, close to $200,000, is to be the principal object of contest if the case goes into the courts, it is intimated.

We have made Mrs. Hall what we believe is a generous offer and hope she will accept," said Frank Hall, one of the two sons.

Since the death of Mr. Hall his country seat in Portsmouth has become the first foundation in America of the Order of St. Benet of Monks in the United States and will be the home of the monastery.

8,000 PLEDGE AID TO METHODIST CAMPAIGN

Will Give One-Tenth of Income for Church and Social Relief

Seventy-eight thousand church members in New England have pledged themselves to give at least one-tenth of their incomes for Christian work as a part of the Methodist Centenary campaign, said Father H. Lovejoy, stewardship secretary for the New England Methodist Episcopal conference, today.

Although the money raised by this movement is to be used in some form of social service relief work and other kinds of philanthropic work, it is not to be limited to some form of social service relief work and other kinds of philanthropic work.

Every member of the East Bridgewater church has pledged himself to the program of systematic giving, and the body is expecting to introduce community service projects, one has ever before been attempted in the parish, the Rev. Mr. Holmquist. This church has a membership of 1,000.

Credit for the financial success of the campaign in Weston, Massachusetts, which pledged $60,000, is also due to the same methods of systematic giving. Another one-tenth campaign was successful in Wenham and Hamilton, North Reading, Lynnfield Center, Peabody, Danvers, Beverly and Salem. Each of these towns has its own church, and each has raised its quota. Similar campaigns have been successful in the cities and towns of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

416 WARSHIPS WILL GUARD THE PACIFIC

Estimate Includes 25 Battleships, 19 Cruisers, 125 Destroyers and Small Craft

Washington, June 18.—The securing of a great American fleet on the Pacific is to assure for the United States complete naval dominion over that ocean, it was declared today by naval officers.

The naval plan, although of the greatest magnitude, is said to be one that cannot be overdone. This is at no more than the bare minimum in the number of ships and men which the Government considers necessary for the proper protection of the Pacific coast.

The present plan of dividing our fleet equally between the Atlantic and Pacific, it was said, was made necessary because of the Panama canal, which has made it possible to transfer ships from one ocean to the other. It was also declared that the Panama canal would be of no value to the United States if it were not fortified and manned with sufficient men to operate the ships which would be required to defend it.

The next largest fleet in the world is that of Japan. From information at hand it is known that the Japanese navy will be increased to [illegible] battleships, [illegible] battle cruisers, [illegible] cruisers, [illegible] destroyers and about [illegible] submarines.

The Japanese navy is necessary for the protection of the Pacific coast, and the Pacific fleets to unite with the Atlantic fleets in case of war, it is said, would be done only when the Japanese navy was destroyed. This same estimate assumes that, in case of war, Japan will provide for at least [illegible] of the Atlantic fleet.

WAIT WILSON'S SPEECH ON LEAGUE

Labor Delegates Agree to Hold Up Debate on This Issue

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18.—No discussion of the labor program, league of nations or the peace treaty will be held at the thirty-ninth convention of the American Federation of Labor until the views of President Wilson are known.

In the meantime it is expected that President Wilson will have had opportunity to answer cabled inquiries as to the exact status of the labor program. This cable, long delayed, with a statement of the conditions developed in the convention of the Federation, have been sent to Paris through the State Department, and it is expected a full reply will be in hand by Friday.

Whether or not a message from President Wilson will be read to the delegates depends on the leaders of the convention. If they believe an expression of opinion by him is necessary it will undoubtedly be produced at the psychological moment.

IRISH AMENDMENT AGAIN.

The convention's desire not to embarrass the President failed to prevent their Irish leaders from securing their own way in the convention. The Resolution Committee presented its report on the several resolutions which had been presented bearing on the Irish question, but it was not satisfactory to the delegates fostering Ireland's cause.

Delegate William D. Mahon of the Street Carmen offered an amendment to the report calling on the American Peace Mission to do all in its power to secure a hearing before the peace conference of Count Plunkett, Arthur Griffin and Professor DeValera of the Irish Republic.

Delegate Frank McNulty of the Electrical Workers then offered an amendment calling upon Congress to recognize the Irish Republic. With these two amendments the resolution was unanimously adopted.

Just before postponing action on the peace treaty the convention, by an overwhelming vote, destroyed any chance the radicals had of securing indorsement of any general strike in behalf of Tom Mooney, the California labor leader.

MOONEY DEBATE BITTER.

The debate on the Mooney matter was long and at times bitter, but in the end only a handful of votes opposed the passage of a resolution condemning the tactics of the International Workers' Defence League, which has assumed charge of the Mooney case. In the debate on the matter charges were made and not denied that funds collected for Mooney's benefit were misused.

A similar fate befell attempts to secure the passage of resolutions calling for the abolition of the Russian blockade and recognition of the Soviet government.

In the Russia matter the resolutions committee recommended the withdrawal of American troops from Russia as advocated by a resolution offered by Duncan of Seattle. It refused endorsement of the Soviet government on the grounds that it does not represent the people of Russia. No government of that country should be recognized, the committee advised, until a national assembly, selected by regular vote, is instituted.

DISTINCTION ON ERIN.

The committee made a distinction between the Russian Soviet government and the Irish republic. Secretary John D. Frey of the resolutions committee declared that the Irish government is a government selected by the people of Ireland. The Soviet was established by denying the right of a national assembly to meet, and established by force of bayonets. "The people of Ireland," said he, "decided what they wanted. The people of Russia have never had a chance to say what they want."

Delegate Duncan of Seattle and President Gompers swapped a few "courtesies" during the session. Duncan charged that the officials, in telling of Federation organizers drunk on duty and when called upon by strangers to prove his statement he could not substantiate it. Duncan denounced Max Hanson of Seattle as a "four flusher."

The convention adopted a resolution favoring municipal ownership of railways. The plan was submitted to convention by Glenn E. Plumb, general counselor of organized railway employes of America.

PUBLICITY AIDS PEOPLE'S FIGHT, SAYS SWIG

But Urges Good Work Go On in Behalf of Savings Bank Depositors

Boston, June 17.

Editor of the American:

I hasten to give expression to my appreciation of the value of newspaper publicity to the movement for the repeal of the law which forbids the payment of interest on savings deposits after once in six months. Without it there would have been almost insurmountable difficulty in acquainting people with the fact that if they should withdraw their deposits from any bank before six months they would lose the interest.

My advertisements and the news articles on the subject so aroused public sentiment as to impress the committee on banks and banking with the strength of the demand for repeal. That is why the members were unanimous in their recommendation that the statute against which the referendum is directed should be repealed.

There are so many stages for the bill to go through that a technicality might prevent its passage. For that reason I urge that there should be no relaxation of effort to secure signatures to the petitions. A few thousand more are required. It will not be difficult to obtain them, for the whole State is protesting against the injustice of the law.

SIMON SWIG,
Vice President Tremont Trust Company.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Nitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Forces.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fat, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as nitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, nitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in one's appearance, the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes grow bright and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION: Although nitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, and has no tendency to increase weight, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.

NUXATED IRON
POWER HEALTH VITALITY ENDURANCE STRENGTH ENERGY

Nuxated Iron increases strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. It has been used and endorsed by such men as former United States Senator and Vice-Presidential Nominee Charles A. Towne; U. S. Commissioner of Immigration Hon. Anthony Caminetti; also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington, and others. Ask your doctor or druggist about it.

Several Hundred in Close Shave From Death at Adams

Adams, June 18.—In an almost miraculous manner several hundred persons at work in the No. 1 mill of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing Company escaped injury and probably death when several supporting beams in the mill gave way.

The entire three floors in the large building dropped from five to three feet. Women employes began to scream, many fainted and others started rushing for exits. No one was seriously injured, however, and at the office of the Berkshire Company, it was said, no reports of any injuries had been received.

Machinery in the mill was damaged to a considerable extent. It is probable that an investigation will be made to determine the cause of the accident.

HOUSE TO HEAR GUARDSMENS' GRIEVANCE

Kahn Announces Enlisted Men May Testify at Reorganization Conference

Washington, June 18.—Probably for the first time in the history of the United States private soldiers will be permitted to submit to Congress during the present session their views on legislation necessary for the reorganization of the army.

Announcement that the enlisted men are to be heard was made by Representative Julius Kahn of California, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, in a statement outlining the committee's plans for holding hearings on the reorganization bill.

General Pershing and other commanding officers of the American expeditionary forces will be invited to appear before the committee and make whatever recommendations that may have been suggested by their experiences in the field.

Kahn also stated that reserve and national guard officers will be given an opportunity to present the views of those branches of the service.

Members of Congress who have championed the cause of the Reserve and National Guard officers see in Kahn's announcement an opportunity for a general airing of the grievances these officers hold against the Regular Army group. The charge has been made on the floor of the House repeatedly that a feeling of intense bitterness exists between the Reserve and National Guard officers and the officers of the regular establishment.

Joliet Prisoners Are Cunning in Making Tools

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—George Sutton, secretary to Governor Lowden, has some unique instruments taken from prisoners at Joliet who secretly made them in plans for escape.

One is a huge and ugly-looking knife, made from a file. It resembles any machine-made blade. The handle is of bicycle tape. Its construction probably took weeks if not months of tedious toil.

Another is a razor. This is also made from a file. It is perfect in design and has an edge equivalent to any machine-made blade. The handle is light red, of a paper combination.

But the most remarkable of all is a tremendously large key. It is hand carved and of brass. The ingenuity with which it was finished can well be realized when it is learned the key and tappers are fitted with square screws that can be adjusted to any length in order to fit all cell locks.

NAME SULLIVAN ARBITER FOR MANCHESTER ROAD

Manchester, N. H., June 18.—P. F. Sullivan, former president of the Bay State Street Railway, has been selected by the Manchester Street Railway as its representative on the board of arbitration of three, which will consider and arbitrate the demands of the employes of the company for increased wages. Attorney James H. Vahey of Boston is the representative of the carmen. These two men will select a third arbitrator.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form,

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Merry Days in Olde Virginia

"Unlike their forefathers who were like to have starved during the first few winters after settling Jamestown, these tobacco planters of later generations live like gentlemen, in ease and plenty. At the Chatham's last night it was not easy to remember that I had left behind me all the comforts of good old England and am indeed now living at the very edge of the trackless wilds of a new, uncivilised continent."
—Memoirs of John Peyton

Just try that Virginia tobacco taste

Virginia tobacco has a lively, snappy taste, and an appetizing freshness that makes a cigarette mean something.

But to enjoy Virginia tobacco at its best, to get the full flavor and zest out of every puff, don't smoke it mixed with other tobaccos —smoke it straight.

Smoke an all-Virginia cigarette—Piedmont.

NOTE—Foreign-grown tobaccos pay a high import duty. Virginia tobacco, grown in this country, pays none. That's why Piedmont all-Virginia cigarettes cost less and yet give better value.

HEALTH TALK

The stomach and bowels are one continuous piece of human machinery—the largest in the body—and do the most work.

And if you keep your stomach and bowels in fit condition the chances are that nature will rid you of most forms of sickness.

Take advice—look well after the stomach and bowels.

You must have regular movements and be sure to keep out worms like Stomach worms and Pin worms.

Dr. True's Elixir is known as "The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller"; it tones up the stomach, restores normal bowel action and throws out these parasites of worms.

Remember the name, Dr. True's Elixir. Ask grandma—she knows about Dr. True's Elixir. Adults and children should use it. Start using Dr. True's Elixir today.

Boston Clubs Not to Auction Liquor; Won't Be Any

Boston's big clubs will not auction off their surplus stocks of wines and liquors, despite the coming of the lonesome period. Those in New York will, within the next fifteen days, according to a report received today.

A canvass of the big clubs in Boston developed the fact that most of them have no knowledge of such action; others state they will not take anything to auction off. For example:

Somerset—"We don't know anything about it."

Algonquin—"I don't think so. Haven't heard anything about it."

Union—"We have none to auction off here."

City—"Not here. I don't think because we won't have anything to auction off."

Chilton—"No. I don't think so."

B. A. A.—"I haven't the slightest idea."

LIZZIE GETS RELIGIOUS; ANSWERS TO LORD ONLY

San Francisco, June 14—Lizzie Griffiths, of chocolate countenance and buxom build, told United States District Judge W. H. Hoskin that she no longer considered herself accountable to any earthly tribunal. She was arrested for violation of the Federal vice regulations.

"Since I was arrested I done got religion in my soul, Judge, and now I ain't accountable to nuthin' but de Lord," she said.

"I think," responded the court, "that you had better consider yourself accountable to the United States government to the extent of a $5 fine. If not, you go to jail." Lizzie paid.

BEECKMAN TO REVIEW BRIGADE AT NEWPORT

Newport, June 14—Governor and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman have accepted an invitation from Captain Edward H. Campbell, in command of the Training Station, to review the brigade on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 25.

PLATTSBURG IS PREPARING TO OPEN JULY 1

Junior Training Camp Expected to Reach Limit of Membership

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 18—With the arrival of Junior Plattsburg Training Camp only ten days distant the enrollment of students is increasing as every mail arriving at headquarters and present indications are that the full quota of membership will be reached during the present week.

A large force of men under the direction of Professor George E. Russell of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, president and general superintendent of the camp, are busy preparing for the reception of the enlisted members, a number of whom will arrive at Long Point before the close of the week. The military camp commander, Lieutenant-Colonel Donald M. Mellen, U. S. A., will arrive next week, followed by commanders of the other divisions and the corps of instructors.

John P. Davies, superintendent of the air service division, will fly from New York to Plattsburg in one of the Curtiss machines to be used in the camp and will reach here on the morning of the first of July, the opening day. Rear Admiral George R. Rausom, U. S. N., retired, hero of the Battle of Manila Bay, who is to command the naval division, is here awaiting the opening of camp.

The first week will be given over almost entirely to sporting events, which play an important part in the program for the entire season. On July 4, which is a legal holiday in Canada, being known there as Dominion Day, a large number of prominent Canadians will be guests of the camp management. Those invited include twenty members of the Canadian Division of the Aerial League of the British Empire. As a mark of respect to these men, flights with the six Curtiss aeroplanes which are to constitute the air squadron of the camp will play an important part in the day's program.

9 CONDUCTORS FINED $100 FOR "LIFTING" FARES

New Bedford, June 18—Eight conductors employed by the Dartmouth and Westport Street Railway Company were fined $100 each in the Superior Court here for collecting and keeping fares. The defendants were Oliver E. Benjamin, Patrick F. Hoban, Charles T. Gomes, Leonard Hamilton, William Mack, Edward F. Nelson, William F. O'Donnell and Edward Seddon. A ninth defendant, Charles Bernard, was acquitted.

In passing sentence Judge Cox said that street car companies were being forced to cut off transfer issues in order to keep up with the greatly increased running expenses. He also stated that if conductors did their hands into the company's funds it was time to be made up by the public.

OWNS 560,000 ACRES IN ENGLAND—HE IS SECOND

London, June 18—Lord Leconfield, just ennobled in the Peace honors, having just added to his estates by buying the manor and parish of Harrie, comprising 560,000 acres, Leconfield's entire holdings in Great Britain are valued at $50,000,000, when granted affluence immediately secludes itself behind a wealth wall. With his own and Lord Derby's, he is on the old charge critics are secure.

The only larger estate in the kingdom is that of the Duke of Sutherland, who owns some 900,000 acres, having recently disposed of part of his estates.

STATE PROBES RAISE BY LAWRENCE JITNEYS

Lawrence, June 18—Investigators for the Public Service Commission are the first city to get evidence of violations of the public service laws on over-crowding and parking in forbidden places.

Jitneys operating between here and Lowell, Mass., are alleged to be the cause of street car traffic snarls, and due to the Lowell carriers' strike last week added fuel to this cause of complaint. Seventy-five cases, it is claimed, the local police interfered when the jitney men were violating the local traffic laws.

MY TIRED FEET ACHED FOR "TIZ"

Let your sore, swollen, aching feet spread out in a bath of 'Tiz.'

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crippled, corn-burning, bunion-pestered, callous-tortured feet of yours in a 'Tiz' bath. Your shoes will shrink—and they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try 'Tiz.' The grand-and-glorious 'Tiz' foot bath will dance with joy; also you will feel all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like 'Tiz.' It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture. Get a 25-cent box of 'Tiz' at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet are; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.—Advertisement.

When grease was used to quicken the fire in the basement kitchen of Lowe Cafe, a frame shed into the rear of the Bijou Theatre, Washington st., Revere, at 10:30 o'clock last night, the flames leaped higher than the two-story roofing of the cafe, and finally smoke and flames issued from the roof of the theatre. Fifteen feet higher than the roof of the theatre, and was held for trial.

BRETTON WOODS AND RETURN GOOD TRIP

Roads Are Good and Scenery Is Beautiful Practically All of the 372 Miles

The trip published today is from Boston to Bretton Woods and return. The distance is 372 miles and roads are in pretty good condition.

The points of interest through the White Mountains are too numerous to mention in a brief space, but the scenery is unsurpassed, and after viewing what New England has to offer tourists one wonders why they formerly went to Europe.

PARKING RULES TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Autoists Will Do Well to Keep List of Streets in a Handy Place

The police of the city of Boston are conducting a lively crusade against motorists who allow their cars to stand on certain streets longer than is allowed under street traffic regulations of the city, and are also prosecuting persons who have made it a custom to park their cars in certain restricted areas. Below is a list of restricted streets, stating how long a vehicle is allowed to remain standing on these thoroughfares.

Between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. no vehicle is allowed to stand in the following-named streets for more than five minutes at a time:

FIVE-MINUTE STANDS.

Washington street, between Haymarket square and Eliot street.

Court street, between Washington street and Scollay square.

Exchange street.

Between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. no vehicle shall be left standing on the following named streets except to let off or take on passengers, namely:

The Common side of Boylston street, between Tremont street and Charles street.

The Court House side of Somerset street, between Pemberton square and the most northerly point of Ashburton place.

Court street, southerly side, between Washington street and the westerly arm of Court square.

FIFTEEN MINUTES ONLY.

No vehicle is allowed to stand for more than fifteen minutes at a time between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on Norway street, between Massachusetts avenue and Falmouth street.

For the purpose of awaiting their passengers, drivers of vehicles may stop and stand the same in a single line close to the curb for a period of not more than thirty minutes on the following named streets:

Northerly side of Doane street. Post Office Square.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Dear Mr. Fixit: Please tell me how to stop the leaks around my cylinder plugs. I mean the caps over the valves. My engine does not have a detachable cylinder head.
A. L. W., Brookline.

This leaking may be stopped by using ordinary paint stove blacking on the threads. Do not use too much. You can also use this on any hot joint instead of white or red lead. It makes the breaking of the joint much easier to accomplish when necessary.

Dear Mr. Fixit: My car seems to "buck" at low speeds. What is the trouble?
A. R. S., Melrose.

The trouble may be caused by excessive play between the driving pinion and the ring gear in the rear axle, or between the two high-speed gears in the transmission. Lift the front boards and try turning the propeller shaft by hand to see how much play there is. If this is noticeable to any extent, better have it fixed.

Dear Mr. Fixit: When I throw out my clutch there is a scraping sound that continues until I let it in again. Is it anything serious?

This is caused by the clutch pedal arm touching the flywheel or depressing the flywheel covering so that it rubs against the rotating wheel. It may be necessary to file the pedal arm to stop, although it should be fixed by adjustment in most cases.

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a scored cylinder which loses compression. Is there any way to stop it without having it re-bored?
S. J. T., Boston.

Your car is probably an old one and it may not be worth while to equip with new cylinder or rebore it. By using a set of special piston rings you may help the trouble. These are a little oversize and may assist you. Also try graphite in your oil.

W. B. M., Waltham. Your letter is rather lengthy to publish in full. Probably you will be rid of trouble if you get out those extra parts that do not belong in the magneto. Also see that your distributor parts are clean and free from dirt.

DARK-COLORED TIRES ARE LONGER WEARING

That tires are now made in dark colors is not due to a fad in style, but to important improvements in the compounds which make up the tire tread, says the United States Tire Company.

After a long period of experimentation, this company developed a new formula for its tread compounds, so much tougher and much better wearing that it was adopted as the standard of manufacture, even though it called for a change from the light color to which the public has been accustomed.

Aside from the matter of the quality of the tire, the dark colored tire was a decided advantage in that it is not so easily discolored as the light tire. To keep a light colored tire presentable required frequent dressing, but the black tire needs no attention of this sort.

AMERICAN SIX TO HAVE NEW QUARTERS

Demand for New Car Calls for More Floor Space to Look After Trade

Owing to the fact that the salesrooms at No. 94 Massachusetts avenue have been found too small to properly display the models, M. E. Jackson, sales manager of the factory, and H. D. Dockray, president of the local distributing company, were busy all last week securing new and more spacious quarters. These have been secured, but until they are ready the new models and a stripped chassis of the American Six will be on the floor at No. 94 Massachusetts avenue.

All the members of the New England American Motor Car Corp. are delighted with the reception of the car by the public, and much credit is due to the strenuous efforts of the new concern. Hampered by the inability to obtain fitting quarters they went ahead and secured what they could in order to get the car before the public, and the results have justified the labor.

In speaking of the car recently, President Dockray said: "The outstanding feature of the American Six is the perfect balance of the car—the weight being equally distributed over all four wheels. We went to the factory and were thoroughly acquainted with the car before we tied up our money in the proposition. We know that as soon as the New England public has a chance to investigate the qualities of the car our judgment will be vindicated. In fact, we have practically closed the New England territory, and the demand for retail business is already keeping us busy."

M. E. Jackson, salesmanager of the American Motors Corporation, builders of the car which bears Louis Chevrolet's stamp of approval, has spent some time in Boston and is more than pleased with the way business is shaping up.

MAIBOHM SIX GETS GOOD RECEPTION HERE

A. V. Mann, president of the Mann Motor Car Company, distributors of the Maibohm Light Six, is a Boston business man who saw the opportunity of selling the right priced car in Boston and after a careful investigation took the product of one of the oldest carriage concerns in the country. The success of the Maibohm Six in Boston and New England is already assured. Its reception has been pleasing to both the factory and the local company.

Mr. Mann succeeded in surrounding himself with an able corps of assistants in charge of Frank E. Saunders, well-known to the trade in Boston. Mr. Saunders was formerly with the Winton and the Cadillac Companies and has a wide and valuable experience in the automobile business.

This combination has been successful in placing the Maibohm right up in the front ranks of popular sellers.

Artist Gets Work Painting Throats in Hospital

Topeka, Kan., June 18.—The arrival of the sanitary train of the 35th Division here brought a reminder to Governor Henry J. Allen of the six weeks he spent with the train in the diphtheria hospital in the Vosges Mountains while he was with the Red Cross.

"There was a fellow named Jones," said the Governor, speaking to friends about the train, "who used to paint our throats every day. He would go about with a wicked-looking pot of iodine and a swab.

"'Say ah,' he would command us, as he pried open our mouths. He would always greet the boys with the command 'Ah.' The fellows, when they saw him with the iodine and the swab, always had things to say that didn't always sound like 'Ah.'

"I said to him one day, after he had finished a job on my throat: 'Jones, you should be an artist.'

"'I am, Mr. Allen,' he replied. 'I'm a painter and paperhanger in Topeka.'"

NEPONSET AND QUINCY ROADS NEED REPAIRS

The Quincy Shore drive, as an outlet to the south, is an excellent boulevard and is perhaps the shortest route to Quincy, Nantasket and the South Shore.

It is considered by motorists too bad that the approach to it is so difficult because of the condition of the roads. Motorists going out by way of Meeting House Hill, Adams street and Neponset avenue have a fair roadway until within a quarter of a mile of the Neponset bridge on the Boston side and about 300 yards of Hancock street on the Quincy side, which is little better than plowed ground.

If the cities of Boston and Quincy would go fifty-fifty on fixing up this stretch from the end of the concrete paving to Neponset avenue to the viaduct at the Atlantic station, they would add a great deal to the pleasure and safey of south-bound autoists.

TWO BROTHERS MEET FOR FIRST TIME IN 27 YEARS

San Francisco, Cal., June 18.—Two brothers, William H. and Alfred Shanks, are today celebrating their reunion after each has given the other up for dead. The two men met here recently in the Red Cross canteen in the Ferry Building.

William H. Shanks enlisted in the navy ten months ago and Alfred became a lieutenant in the Seaforth Highlanders. Two or three months later the former was notified by the British government that his brother had been killed in action, and the latter, not hearing from the other, concluded that he had lost his life.

Fish Go on "Souse"

Knoxville, Tenn., June 18. — When 2,300 bottles of whiskey containing approximately 150 gallons, worth about $6,000, were poured into the Tennessee river here the fishes had a big "souse." The whiskey was poured out in the presence of county officials. It was all that had accumulated since November, 1918.

U. S. FAILS TO GET SINGLE BID ON ALCOHOL

Federal Auctioneer Makes "No Sale" on Seized Liquor at Gloucester

John Barleycorn, whose life in the United States is limited to twelve days, because of the war-time prohibition amendment, is dead now, in the opinion of the attaches of United States Marshal John J. Mitchell's office, judging by the fact that this department was unable to secure even one bid for 309 gallons and three quarts of alcohol which were ordered to be sold by public auction at Gloucester.

Deputy United States Marshal Benjamin F. Scully failed for the first time to secure a purchaser at a Federal auction sale. Deputy Scully gave the customary three calls for bidders on this alcohol, which is said to be valued at about $1,800, but his calls were in vain, for there was not even one person present at the Gloucester postoffice, where the alcohol is stored, to bid even a cent for it.

Marshal Mitchell's office is now debating how they are to get rid of the alcohol before the amendment is put into effect on July 1.

The alcohol was seized last April at Gloucester. The result of the sale will now be returned to the United States District Court for further disposition.

MAYOR THROWS OUT CLOSED PAVING BIDS

Manchester, N. H., June 18.—Mayor Moise Verrette has directed Samuel J. Lord, director of public works, to call for new paving bids. The Mayor in a letter to Lord objects to closed specifications which stifle competition and bring high prices. The Mayor wants the public works director to use the standard specifications the same as that used by public works departments in other cities.

Hot Job for "Eskimos"

Columbus, O., June 18.—There is going to be a hot time in Columbus during the Methodist centenary for somebody. In the Eskimo village twenty women and children, of Columbus, will have to represent these people of the north and wear the heavy mittens, hoods and boots. But thus far there have been more than enough volunteers for every emergency.

NEGRO LABORER WINS LOVE OF RICH WOMAN

"Honey" Hazzard and Mabel Puffer of Ayer Go to Concord to Marry

Ayer, June 18.—The sole topic being discussed in this cantonment town today is the reported elopement of the wealthy and good-looking Mabel Puffer of the fashionable Sandy Pond section, with "Honey" Hazzard, a negro choreman.

The negro and the woman are in Concord, N. H., today, according to the chief of police of that city. Over the long distance telephone the chief told a reporter that Miss Puffer and the negro, whose name in full is Arthur Garfield Hazzard, had formally made an application for a marriage license. The five-day limit expires next Saturday.

In the meanwhile, said the chief, Miss Puffer and her negro sweetheart are staying at a boarding house in Concord. He stated that he had seen the pair walking about the streets of the city.

It was the Concord chief of police who first confirmed the rumor of the elopement that the society folk of Ayer discredited when it got into circulation on Monday last. The rumor had it that Miss Puffer and Hazzard had been seen by several townspeople leaving Ayer together in an automobile on Sunday night.

Despite the simultaneous disappearance of Miss Puffer, who is forty-eight years old, and Hazzard, who is some fifteen years her junior, no significance was given the story until Tuesday, when the chief of police of Ayer was called on the telephone by the Concord official and apprised of the facts.

Legally there was no interference possible by the Concord chief, as he stated over the telephone to the reporter. His motive was to have the relatives of Miss Puffer take action, if they so desired.

HER BROTHER IN FRANCE.

The entire town is today demanding that the marriage be stopped. Whether Miss Puffer's relatives can be reached to take legal action or use their influence is not known. A brother of the woman is an army captain, now in France with his command.

How the romance of the woman and negro began is a mystery, but it is believed that he first met Miss Puffer while doing chores at her home, as he did in many other homes in Ayer.

Born in the town, Miss Puffer attended its public schools, took up elocution in Boston and was of some note as a reader.

Her father, who was a prominent citizen of Ayer for many years, died a few years ago, leaving her $15,000 in cash and several valuable pieces of property in the town. She is said to own property in New Hampshire and it was believed that the elopers were staying at a place owned by Miss Puffer in New Hampshire. One story had it that they had gone to Hollis, N. H.

LEADER AMONG NEGROES.

Hazzard is a sort of "character" in Ayer. He is well known among the white people by reason of earning his living by doing chores at their houses, and he is a leader among the people of his own color. It was Hazzard who conducted the "peace festival" of the negroes of Ayer after the armistice had been declared. In addition, he enjoyed the reputation of being the champion wood-sawer of the town.

That a woman of Miss Puffer's culture should have been fascinated by a man of opposite color of the social scale of Hazzard has left her friends incapable of expressing themselves.

SOUTH END MAN SHOT IN BARROOM ROW

Frank H. Ayers, thirty-six, a boarder at No. 196 Shawmut avenue, South End, was shot in the crowded barroom of Charles P. Hurley & Co., No. 1128 Washington street, South End, by Albert M. Boggs, fifty-two years old, same address.

Boggs fired three shots. One bullet embedded itself in a large mirror hanging on the wall and another smashed through the skylight. Boggs, after the shooting, started with the majority of the patrons to make his exit, but was overpowered after a struggle by Walter J. Brown, a bartender, and Daniel J. Lee of Brookline.

Poor Coney Island Fast Becoming a "Paradise"

New York, June 18.—Coney Island is fast slipping into a class with Paradise.

"Down here," wailed one of the old-time barkers, "everything used to go. An' now look at it! Wid all dese reformer guys busy, sittin' to be a regular Sunday school convention Chautauqua."

No more dancing the shimmy or indulging in wrangleholds on the dance floors.

No more bare legs, one-piece bathing suits or short bathing skirts on the beach.

No more close love cuddling on the sand.

No more Oriental wrigglings in the dancing shows.

And, finally, although they can't quite believe it yet at Coney, no more real beer after July 1.

"The next 'ting," soliloquized the old-time barker, "they'll be pinnin' guys for droppin' peanut shells on the board walk and erectin' bungalows in Billy Sunday and Bill Bryan."

But despite all this, subway, street car and elevated lines, as well as the paddlewheel steamers that carry crowds to Coney Island, continue to be jammed.

We urge, also, that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

BONUS BILL IS NEAR FINAL ACTION

The $100 bonus bill is in its last legislative stage. Today or tomorrow it is to be reported out of the committee on third readings. Then it will be voted on for engrossment, and go to the Governor for his signature. But if the Senate amends the bill by inclusion of the Students Army Training Corps it will have to go back to the House for vote on the amendment before going to the Governor.

The Senate advanced toward the final passage the bill providing for fixing the salaries of clerks of the Superior Courts, on the basis of population, which will give them from $2,300 in the smaller counties to $5,000 in the larger counties, such as Suffolk and Middlesex.

The Senate made the assistants' salary 75 per cent. of the clerks. This will make the range of the assistants' salaries $1,725 to $3,750.

The House held no session, having adjourned from Monday over the holiday owing to the fact that in many communities exercises were being held in connection with the reception of returning war-service men.

Dayton, O., June 18.—There was a most unusual case in police court in Dayton during the last week. A man was arrested on the charge of being "drunk." The species was thought to have been extinct since the day after the 27th of May.

KILL BEAR MASCOT AND ADOPT A BOY

London, June 18.—With the best intentions in the world, Grand Duke Nicholas gave an English unit a bear cub for a mascot. It made a lovely pet. But it grew up.

And when all the casualty reports were in it was found that the full-grown mascot had accounted for twenty-three pigs, thirteen turkeys and a dozen chickens.

There was a sunrise execution, and the unit adopted a little boy who had been wounded on the battlefield.

Jazzes at Death Verdict

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 18.—Benny Haviland, a negro, executed the movements of the jazz dance—hip wiggling, swaying, fingers snapping and feet keeping time—and said: "I'se done goin' to be 'lectrocuted till I'se dead, dead, dead!" "Buck" Dunmore, another negro, smiled broadly when the pair were sentenced to the electric chair by the court for the murder of a Mexican.

GENERAL WOOD TO BE MADE DOCTOR OF LAWS

CHICKEN WENT TO THE MOVIE; 'TALKED' TOO MUCH

Atlanta, Ga., June 18.—"Silence, you cute, cute cuss!" It sounds as if someone in the Forsythe Theatre is a constant Valentine admirer. The spectators thought it was a part of the picture. But the noise continued. When the "comfortable" management searched, a white hen, several weeks old, was found under a seat. Investigation revealed a rubber-nosed whistle and an automatic mouth organ put up behind a curtain. Both were in working order, hardly off. And the manager admits he and "No Name" is alone, or chicken somewhat.

Was No "Flashy Dresser"

Pittsburg, Pa., June 18.—Justice Brown, of Pittsburg, Kansas, has a reputation for being a "flashy dresser." Recently he appeared in court in a pair of pink pajamas, which he wore under his judicial robes. He explained that he had been sleeping in the pajamas and had no time to change before court opened.

HOLD NEGRO AND WHITE IN ROW OVER NEGRESS

Jamestown, June 18.—"It is just the same as though a white man and a white woman married a colored woman," the court remarked in continuing the cases of Martin Williams, white, and Jesse Johnson, colored, both charged with disorderly conduct. Both men are charged with disorderly conduct with dangerous weapons as well. Both men will be heard June 21. Robinson appeared with a razor in his threat which resulted in serious stitches to close wounds he charged was inflicted by Williams. The latter, who married Robinson's colored woman, claims that Robinson was paying attention to his wife.

"Ah ain't denyin' the razor charge, Judge," he said, "but ah do objects to 'em a sayin' I'm a flashy dresser and a bad debt contractor. Ah ain't none of them things."

GERMAN WOMEN START TROUBLE IN PARIS

DELEGATES AT WEIMAR TONIGHT

If National Assembly Votes to Ratify Treaty Ebert Regime Is Doomed

Paris, June 18.—Two German women accused were today arrested of starting the trouble that attended the departure of the German peace delegation from Versailles Monday night.

An official inquiry, it was stated, disclosed that as the automobiles carrying the Germans drew away from the Hotel Reservoir, the women expressed their contempt for the crowd of two thousand French men and women by sticking out their tongues and putting their fingers to their noses.

The stoning occurred as the automobiles were approaching the Palais-le-Roi station. A shower of missiles descended on the German party, injuring Dr. Meinlier, one of the German delegates, and Frau Doernbluth, a secretary.

Premier Clemenceau not only dismissed the prefect of police, Chalesi, and the police commissaire, Dudaille, but ordered Chalesi to make a personal apology to the Germans. The French press today deplores the disorders and the necessity of the French having to apologize to the Germans, but approves the dismissal of the officials.

During the demonstration at the station, women with babies in their arms ran alongside the German automobiles and carriages. One half-hysterical woman ran up to the car containing Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and holding up her baby, shouted at the German Foreign Minister: "You've killed his father!"

Soldiers finally dispersed the crowd.

Berlin, June 18.—Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, has lodged an emphatic protest with the French government against the insults offered the German peace delegation by the French crowd on its departure from Versailles Monday night.

Diarmuid Lynch Gives Detailed List of Irish Atrocities and Sentences

New York, June 18.—A detailed list of British atrocities in Ireland in the years 1917 and 1918 was made public by Diarmuid Lynch, national secretary of the Friends of Irish Freedom. The report has been compiled from the daily newspapers published in Ireland and those two years have been selected according to Mr. Lynch's introductory statement for two reasons.

"Firstly, that this statement may definitely disprove that usual easy explanation of British statesmen that not they, but their grandfathers persecuted Ireland.

"Secondly, because in the years mentioned the English administration under whose direction the acts to be cited were committed was loudest in its lamentations over the oppression of subject peoples."

SENTENCES "VICIOUS."

The report states that at the beginning of the period which it covers eight months after the suppression of the Easter rebellion arrests for the most trivial political offenses were continued, and were followed by the imposition of vicious sentences and almost unbelievable indignities upon innocent men.

Arrests, sentences, raids or other acts resulting from offenses against the ordinary criminal law are not included in the tabulation in the report, which says:

"The acts with which England is here charged are exclusively acts against persons who, in any other crime save that of championing the freedom of their own nation against a power which seeks to keep it oppressed in the very existence of the subject people. Yet the same English government which directs this oppression was constrained to admit, through its regular judges, that Ireland was in the same period practically criminless. Several of the judges of Assize are quoted in support of this astonishing fact.

"Reference is made to attacks on public assemblages by police and military. Men, women and even children," says the report, "are beaten down in the public streets by an armed military force which is not for the preservation of internal peace, but for the forcible sustainment of the English usurpation."

PASSED BY CENSORS.

Traditional assemblies, processions, celebrations, and in some cases even fairs and markets, have been declared illegal according to the compilers of the report, who call attention to the fact that the attitude of the Irish residents having appeared in the daily press of Ireland must have been passed as accurate by the British censors in Ireland.

The record of arrests, raids, suppressions, sentences, etc., for the two years is tabulated as follows:

	1917	1918
Arrests	349	1,107
Raids	200	280
Raids and layout charges	18	81
Proclamations suppressing meetings, etc.	3	32
Deportations	2	91
Prisons suppressed	5	12
Courts martial	1	2
Sentences	249	973
Murders in raids or charges	2	2
Total violations of civil rights	719	2,604

The courts-martial are declared by the report to be a travesty on justice, being conducted by judges steeped in political prejudice.

ATROCITIES IN IRELAND ARE DENIED

Secretary MacPherson Declares Deportations Occurred Only After Serious Crimes

London, June 18.—Continuing his vigorous denial of Irish-American charges of British "atrocities" in Ireland, James Ian MacPherson, chief secretary for Ireland, stated that deportations have been made only for serious crimes.

"Deportations and internment have become necessary in a large number of cases because of rebellious proclivities," stated the report. The government made allowances to families in these cases where it was found necessary."

Charges that forty-six policemen have been victims of "cowardly and cowardly assassination" in Ireland were made by MacPherson. Regarding charges by the Irish-American commission of killings in Dublin, it stated that the only killings have been four policemen and a girl—all by Sinn Feiners.

The strength of the army of occupation has been grossly exaggerated, according to MacPherson. The constabulary forces comprise 5,652 men, he stated.

The charge of ten killings by police is denied flatly.

One man was killed in a hospital delivery at Limerick, it was stated, and another when a constable fought barracks were being attacked. No one has died of prison atrocities instead of the five deaths alleged, MacPherson added.

McCORMACK'S ONLY RIVAL IS BROTHER

New York, June 18.—John McCormack, tenor, was in high feather, while holding a dual celebration in honor of receiving dual citizenship papers and attaining his thirty-fifth birthday on the same day.

He said his brother, James, who arrived in this country only a week ago, had already applied for his first papers. Manager McSweeney, who was one of the party, declared incidentally that James has it all over John as a singer.

PLOT TO REPLACE HAPSBURGS IN FULL SWING

By ROBERT J. PREW.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, June 18.—Information furnished to me exclusively today from one of the most reliable European sources reveals the existence of a powerful-backed plot to secretly build up a Danubian confederation and restore the Hapsburgs to kingship.

The confederates have been at work for two months and so far their activities have been the sapping of the Hungarian autocracy of Vienna and the shelling therefrom of 200,000,000 kronen, the suborning of impoverished Austrian officers of good family, and a raid on the Austro-Hungarian frontier town of Bruck.

Heading this monarchist movement is Prince Windischgraetz, the Hungarian nobleman who played a great role in the politics of the old Hapsburg empire. Assisting him in his intrigues to restore Emperor Karl are Count Czernin, former Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, General Schonburg and Baron Musserzanen. Further powerful support is being lent by the Order of Jesuits in Switzerland and the Christian Socialists of German-Austria.

The former Emperor Karl and his consort, the beautiful Empress Zita, are in almost daily communication with the conspirators, who are swarming all through Switzerland and maintaining constant contact, thanks to the imperfect passports issued by the Austrian republican government on the Swiss frontier.

So far the monarchist intrigue has produced no tangible results, but it has the very best authority for stating that it is proceeding rapidly. A small but devoted force which suffered by the downfall of the old regime is being welded together and furnished with arms and equipment.

The plan of the leaders is to wait until the people of German Austria through her looked-for plight despair and then to attempt a coup d'etat, destined to result in the young emperor's being hailed by the people as victoriously back to Schonbrun Castle.

News of the plot in all its ramifications reached Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegates, while he waited the allied peace terms at the chateau of St. Germain. Renner refrained from communicating his fears to the conference. His departure from Paris after receiving the draft terms to meet Herr Bauer, the secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, at Innsbruck, was due to his anxiety to get first hand information on the progress of the monarchist movement.

THE FUTURE LOOKS TO ITS WOMEN

In every land women are successfully applying their energy and intelligence to the solution of national problems—civic problems—business problems—home problems. Pictorial Review, the first great woman's magazine to recognize the broadening of women's interests, continues to lead the way in reporting new activities, new opportunities, and the great constructive good that women everywhere are accomplishing!

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt

Can a New York society girl do a hard day's work?

CAN a girl brought up in luxury sweep and scrub all day long without going to pieces? Would she stick to drudgery day after day without complaining? Would she stand discomfort, long hours, rough living and no amusements?

These are the questions Mrs. Vanderbilt—the New York society leader—asked herself when she went to France as head of the Red Cross Canteen Service. Read Mrs. Vanderbilt's answers to her own questions in her striking article called "The New Four Hundred" in Pictorial Review for July.

Kathleen Norris

Can you keep a servant?

IF not, is it because women, as employers of labor have failed? How is it that your husband can take your friend's youngest son into his office without lowering his social position while your friend's young daughter cannot come to work in your house on a basis of equality?

Read Kathleen Norris's startlingly original solution of this universal problem entitled "Help, Help, Who Wants Help?"

Rheta ChildeDorr

Are our thirteen million aliens to be Americans or Bolshevists?

IMAGINE it! A salaried press agent of the Russian Bolsheviki carried on propaganda work at a meeting in a New York school amid yells of approval. Almost unbelievable, isn't it? But it actually happened. You will get the shock of your life when you read Rheta Childe Dorr's fact-story in Pictorial Review for July. It is called "America Must Be Americanized," and it will make you blush for our lack of national feeling.

Boxing News and Notes

Johnny Wilson, rugged Charlestown middleweight, challenged the winner of the Robson-Ingram bout to a match, and said challenge will be accepted before the contest goes 10 rounds.

Barney Snyder may soon journey to England to battle Jimmy Wilde, the Welsh fly-weight champion. Snyder believes his skill would enable him to give Wilde a fierce battle.

Meanwhile the Rosbery bantamweight is open to meet Johnny Robby Joseph or any other New England 118-122 pug.

Frank Ducey has arranged an attractive card for the Lynn A. A. in Lynn for tomorrow night. Jack Bradford, well rounds, Lawrence vs. Teddy Murphy, ten rounds; Joe Mascolo vs. Mike Rounds and Young Lee vs. Jack Clarke, ten rounds.

All-star shows usually give satisfaction. On paper it looks as if the Lynn fans would witness a treat in the card to be staged by the Commercial A. A. Tonight. Josepha has been one of the most satisfactory performers that local glove wielders have proved his right to a place in the ranks of the big-ribbon strappers on hand.

EAGAN AND ROBSON MEET, BUT THAT'S ABOUT ALL

By JACK CONWAY.

"Back to Milwaukee!"

Maybe Joe Eagan, Dorchester middleweight, was going to appeal from the sentence thundered out by a leather-lunged individual who was concealed behind a smoke screen in the gallery at the Armory A. A. for he walked to the end of the stage and held up his right hand for silence.

That is as far as he got, however. Apparently fight fans go to boxing shows to see fighting and not to listen to Daniel Webster stuff and Eagan was finally forced to surrender his position in the limelight and retire to his corner.

Stocks Open Strong and Show Upward Trend

HIGH CALL RATE ANGERS THE PUBLIC

By BRADDAN WALL,
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The stock market closed yesterday in an atmosphere of public enthusiasm. Just before the close of business Rubber showed an advance of 2¾ points from the low point of the morning; Steel Common maintained from four to seven points. The whole market strong, with a tendency to push things higher.

The public is not responsible for rails and it is important for the future of the country that the railroads had become the subject of legislation.

Established public opinion in the minds of the members of the Federal Reserve Board for going money rate to be permitted to rise one point on Monday and a possible supply rise to two points on Tuesday. It was the Federal Reserve that ten was necessary. The emergency rate had existed and should not be touched. If the bankers' board proposes to make the money rate, it is going to make it by administration which United States strangling the country. It is going to put up to five years' use there is nothing little or nothing in the world position of dominance in trade and finance.

What the Reserve Board permitted to happen on Monday breeds public skepticism.

Patriotic American business men believe that two colossal mistakes are being made and must not be condoned.

Last Autumn the money market was to be handled that wife for rich could buy stocks when they were on the bargain counter. There was no such bargain counter of anything disinterestedness of the public at time to find the action taken at that time by the bankers' federation of financial powers at Washington.

On Monday evening the public was clubbed out of the hands of the Reserve Bankers, encouraged by the hope Board, used brutal tactics in the hope Board, used brutal tactics in the hope to the storage commodities code rose upon it. Then came the storm of protest. The question of speculation is not so much at issue as the right of all classes with his own money.

The nation's credit is at stake to-day. Not in the banks repudiate their statement that Liberty Bonds are the investment of earth and the people who hold those bonds will very properly resent any effort to put their country, but it will shake the seats of the mighty. Moreover, the present administration will not enforce their private opinions of investment and speculation.

In calling in question their partial they exercise a function which the country expects them to perform. The committee of bankers with an idea, in pursuit of a good motive, may lose in the minds of a good many Americans there is room for doubt if anything has been made safe for democracy. But it makes it safe for those of a new law to have it passed, and that committee has a personal interest in the investment public.

The public is in respectability different from the interests of get rich quick or swindling. Stock exchange would be economically absurd if it could not be used for the purpose of raising money. Stocks have passed and make its end of trouble some. Senator of Washington tried to start new legislation preventing investors from such deliberate action.

Of course, the Reserve Board was fundamentally right in its action. The previous 828 million dollars of the payment of extraordinary amounts of money and credit to the country. It is not the case with the others who took an unfair advantage of the Reserve yesterday as it proposed to do.

Call money at 6 per cent. for the week, for call at 10 per cent. for Saturday, for commercial paper at 6 per cent. for four months, announced that it had practically exhausted $10 million dollars which it had put half of this to the Reserve Bank. This is not of good omen. The Reserve Bank is a bankers' institution. There is a belief that the policies of prohibitive money are responsible for the continued advance in prices. Whether as a result of cancellation of selling orders, or, as is more likely, because the orders placed in the market for half a million bonds, the fact remains that the buying power is not the only cause for the boom, but has been the tight money rates. Bankers in close touch with Treasury were of the opinion that the Treasury would

President Wilson's Vacillation May Lose for Us the Greatest Merchant Fleet in the World

One of our chief needs is to have a merchant marine, because if we have to deliver our goods in other people's delivery wagons, their goods are delivered first and our goods are delivered only incidentally, if at all . . . Since private capital has not established an American merchant marine, it is now the duty of the Government to undertake it.

President Wilson used these words in speaking to the Pan-American Conference in Washington on May 24, 1914—nine weeks before the great war in Europe began.

This was the first advocacy by an American President of a Government-owned merchant marine.

Mr. Wilson emphasized his first declaration by sending a message to Congress making Government ownership his deliberately chosen policy. With rare accuracy, he then prophesied:

If other nations go to war, or seek to hamper each other's commerce, our merchants will be at their mercy, for we have no ships of our own and cannot control our own commerce.

Then he added:

Such a situation is not to be endured. It is of capital importance that the United States should be its own carrier on the seas and enjoy the economic independence which only an adequate merchant marine would give it.

The great merchant fleet we once used to make us rich, that great body of sturdy sailors who used to carry our flag into every sea, and who were the pride and often the bulwark of the nation, we have almost driven out of existence in inexcusable neglect and indifference and by a hopelessly blind and provincial policy. It is high time we repaired our mistake and resumed our commercial independence on the seas.

President Wilson doubtless had in mind the glorious days of American supremacy on the seas from 1790 to 1860. American ships were then favored by our Government by preferential tariffs, and our ships became the nation's legs, carrying our products to all parts of the world. For seventy consecutive years American vessels carried from sixty-six to ninety per cent. of the overseas commerce.

The President was, therefore, courageously reviving a traditional Democratic policy when he advocated restoration of the merchant marine under Government auspices, with a free field for all American shipmasters and special favors to none.

But Mr. Wilson's program for a Government-owned merchant marine, when announced, met with the instantaneous, bitter and unanimous opposition of the powerful special interests then in control of six trans-Atlantic steamship companies.

American capitalists, trading mostly under the British flag because it enabled them to pay lower wages, did not relish interference with their private agreements or international pools.

It was even predicted five years ago that President Wilson would find the opposition of private interests too powerful to resist and that he would abandon his plan.

The report was then untrue—or at least premature—because on August 24, 1914, three weeks after Germany began the world war, Representative Alexander introduced in Congress the "Administration Shipping Bill," appropriating $30,000,000 as a beginning, and creating a shipping board "to establish an ocean steamship service, owned and operated by the Government."

The bill made no headway in Congress owing to the opposition of conservative Democrats.

If the President had then pressed his shipping bill with energy; if it had been enacted "in the next four or five weeks," as he said in his message; if the shipbuilding program had been carried out, there would have been less shortage of ships in 1917, the unrestricted submarine warfare would have been almost hopeless and might never have been started.

Indeed, the history of the world might have been changed.

But Mr. Wilson made one of his unaccountable and inexplicable changes of front. He abandoned his own Government ship program in Congress. It was not taken up again until three years later, when circumstances compelled its execution.

We have now afloat, under construction or under contract as many merchant ships as Great Britain has on the seas, and more than all other nations of the earth combined.

In shipbuilding capacity we were the sixth nation in 1914. Now we are actually FIRST in number of shipyards and building ways.

The percentage of overseas commerce carried in American vessels in 1914 was 9.7. Now it is second only to that of Great Britain. If the present program is carried out, at the end of twenty months we shall have spent a little less than three billions of dollars. We shall then have, it is estimated, 2,434 ocean-going vessels, aggregating 13,885,106 deadweight tons. These vessels will have cost $206 a deadweight ton, less the income and profits taxes the shipbuilders have returned to the Government. Chairman Hurley says these taxes have averaged $35 a ton on all vessels constructed. This does not include the war taxes paid by the hundreds of sub-contractors who manufactured the steel, the boilers, the machinery, and many other things that go into the ships.

This would make a net actual cost to the Government of $180 a deadweight ton finally of the fleet that has already played such an essential part in winning the war.

THAT FLEET IS NOW A PERMANENT COMMERCIAL ASSET TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Ships are so scarce that the Government has within a week sold two of its newly finished freighters for $210 a deadweight ton. A British syndicate has offered $135,000,000 for all the vessels and assets of the International Mercantile Marine Company, eighty private vessels, owned by Americans and operated under the British flag.

So profitable is the shipping business that this offer of the British syndicate is likely to be declined, although more than half the vessels bid for are freighters from fifteen to thirty years old. The largest American stockholder in this combination declares that the company can make more money by operating the ships for the next two years and then sinking them.

If this is the attitude of private ownership, which considers first its own profits, what should be the attitude of the Government, considering first the needs of the nation, the future of commerce, and the benefits of sending to all parts of the world the products of our industry, now stimulated to an output never before dreamed of?

Does not continuation of prosperity and high wages depend largely upon this question of exports of our surplus products in American ships?

The incalculable importance of this question is shown by the fact that many farsighted shipping men believe that in the future the greatest commerce of the world will be on the Pacific and not on the Atlantic.

The policy of President Wilson, as announced by his Shipping Board, is:

First, to sell out as quickly as possible for any price the Government can get.

Second, to abandon the shipping industry to private ownership, under which it was formerly ruined.

Third, to abandon the needs of the nation to the greed or speculation of private ship owners, who have always been willing to make combinations or alliances with foreign shipping pools, which are sometimes contrary to the interests of the United States.

In other words, having obtained by the accident or necessity of war the Government-owned merchant marine which he earnestly advocated as a PERMANENT PEACE POLICY five years ago, President Wilson now proposes scuttling or running away, or leaving the magnificent fleet and the country a prey to private ship speculators.

President Wilson's fatal fickleness of purpose, his inveterate habit of reversing his policies, has not been more strikingly exhibited since he asked the authority of Congress to invade Mexico and take Vera Cruz to do three specific things:

First, to prevent the delivery by a German ship of a cargo of arms and munitions to the Mexican Government.

Second, to protect American lives and property in Mexico; and Third, to obtain from Mexico a salute to the United States flag and an apology for an unprovoked attack upon men wearing the uniform of the United States Navy.

Congress in that case, by an overwhelming vote, approved President Wilson's proposed step. Our army and navy then invaded Mexico and took and held Vera Cruz. President Wilson then permitted the German shipload of arms to be landed at another port; he left to a German warship the protection of American citizens; he decided that no apology or salute to our flag was necessary, and he ordered our army and navy to countermarch or steam away from Mexico unconditionally, declaring in his Indianapolis speech that what happened to Americans in Mexico or what kind of government the Mexicans chose to set up for themselves was none of our business.

The greatest problem England ever faced—granted peace and industrial quiet—is how to get a new merchant marine for her overseas trade.

To President Wilson the pressing problem seems to be how to GET RID of the magnificent merchant marine he asked Congress to create, which American industry has built, and which the people have paid for.

Through the President's fatal vacillation, the greatest opportunity that America has ever had is being thrown away, and thrown into the lap of England.

There is one policy of this American President that has never varied, and that is his policy of favoring the interests of England.

This policy he has consistently followed from the time he abandoned the preferential for American ships through the American-built Panama Canal to his latest performance of abandoning the freedom of the seas, cutting down the American Navy, and dissipating the American merchant marine.

Mr. Wilson has said that he gets his news and views of the world from the columns of the London Weekly Times, and in this at least he seems to be telling the plain truth, for his American policies seem to be chiefly inspired by British influences and British interests.

Stars and Stripes

After all the fuss and bother, has anybody seen anybody outside of Wall Street who has read the Peace Treaty through?

Maybe when our soldiers get home from Russia some one will tell them why they were ever sent there.

Those progressives who are planning to reform the old parties "from within" will at least have something to do.

"The President," we are told, "is coming home to fight." They said he would do that abroad.

If British rule in Ireland costs $40 a year per inhabitant, it is evident a lot of people aren't getting their money's worth.

Grafters in the navy are being caught and punished. But how about the rich civilian slackers who put up the money?

The modern jazz band is all right in its way, but economical old dad likes the music of the cash register better.

A man does not need to look like Napoleon to bump up against a Waterloo now and then.

MY DEAR K. C. B.—Pardon me, but "O wad some powr the giftie gie us to see ourselves as others see us." * * * It is not enough that you find it unavailing to deny your superiority to the beloved Mark Twain; it is not enough that you inform your admiring clientele that you nurse the sick, amuse little children, cheer the sore bereaved and cast a mystic spell of sweet charity to soothe the world's bleeding heart.

Fearing that in your case much of the above will go over the top, I will explicitly state that I consider you the victim of the most virulent, obnoxious, absolute, rampant and disgusting attack of exaggerated ego of which I have any knowledge. O. D. DONALDSON.

Indian-Irish Blood. Willard's Ignition. U. S. A. Less Shivery. Financing Europe.

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919.)

Six hundred thousand armed men on the Rhine, under Foch, are ready to move if Germany refuses to sign. Paris lets 3 to 2 that Germany will sign. More valuable than the betting as an indication of probability is the President's openly-expressed conviction that the treaty will be signed and that he will be here to speak on July Fourth for his League of Nations. He surely has accurate information.

They are quoting odds in the United States, not on the peace treaty, but the Willard-Dempsey prize fight. A group of young men released from the army were arguing earnestly in a hut at a railroad crossing, not about the peace league, but about Dempsey and Willard. The young men spoke of Willard as "an American" and Dempsey as "an Irishman."

Dempsey, who was born here, has American ancestry back far enough to please anybody. For, on his mother's side, Dempsey is an American Indian. Irish blood and red Indian blood ought to make an interesting fighting combination. The Indian has power to endure pain without flinching; the Irishman to endure and inflict it.

In the coming prize fight there is interest not only for the "sport" who is seeing men hurt each other, but also for the moralist, the physician and the ordinary civilized being.

Willard is old for a prize fighter, about forty. At that age prize fighters, jockeys and baseball players usually live in the past.

Dempsey is said to have lived a moral life. Morality hopes that his victory will prove its practical value.

Is Willard, six feet five inches tall, weighing 258 pounds after hard training an empty shell, to be broken by the Irish-Indian combination? Or is he still a dangerous fighting machine in spite of his 40 years? Can his remaining nervous force supply "ignition" to all the billions of cells in his two hundred and fifty pounds of body? Will his heart be able to work at the right pressure for 25 minutes if the fighting last so long?

Few men of forty could get in condition to stand three rounds of five minutes each, exercising violently. If Willard finishes his twelve rounds, thirty-six minutes, with breath and elasticity remaining he will prove that the average man grows physically old inexcusably early.

Cornaro, who ruined his health at forty, reformed, wrote his book past ninety, mounted and rode his horse alone in the nineties, died at one hundred and five, is worth studying. But Cornaro took just 24 ounces of nourishment daily, twelve ounces of solid food, twelve ounces of red wine. Willard eats in a day as much as Cornaro would eat in a week.

The United States seems to be less doubtful and shivery about Mexico than it used to be. It seems that our troops across the Rio Grande opened up machine gun fire and scattered Mexican bandits as though they really felt that firing Mexican bullets into American territory and killing six Americans at one time called for action.

Going across the ocean with two million men and taking part in a real war ought to have a good effect on American statesmanship, enough at least to cure Mexico of its contempt for the United States as a world power.

You have read in a dozen places "America must finance Europe." It is not actual money that Europe and the whole world need, but material to keep populations busy, supplied with necessaries, and satisfied.

If business in the country could organize on a fair, profitable basis the supplying of materials, raw and manufactured, to Europe, taking pay in European currency at a fair rate of exchange, giving American labor generous pay and reasonable hours, the boom that this country would enjoy for a short time might be made to last indefinitely, with all Americans fully employed, and all over-production absorbed by foreign countries.

There is no sign thus far of many serious effort to solve that problem. High finance in New York city, for instance, is concentrating its efforts on a scheme to bribe politicians, beginning at the top, to add six cents a day, eighteen dollars a year to the street car fare of every worker. If that scheme of theft and bribery goes through, it will plough up some fertile radical soil. And it is apt to go through, for the price is there, the politicians need money, and the financiers thoroughly understand handing it to them, discreetly.
